6 Civil Rights Leaders Ask Protest Halt For Campaign

NEWS BRIEFS

$46 Billion For Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted Wednesday night to spend more than $46 billion for defense.

"We can't afford to be second best," Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told his colleagues as he steered the measure to passage by the unanimous vote of 76 senators.

Efforts to cut the $46,774,401,000 appropriation, the biggest money bill of the fiscal year, were turned back. A series of moves by senators anxious to expand the government's shipyards extended the debate to eight hours.

Slides Threaten Trapped Miners

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP) — French geologists warned Wednesday night that millions of tons of rock on Mt. Rivel continue to threaten the lives of the group of limestone miners entombed since Monday.

Nine of the 14 trapped men were alive and well and in contact with the surface through a 211-foot tube. The other five were missing and feared dead but rescue operations were continuing at several points on the mountain in the hope of getting a sign of life from them.

Andre Martinet, foreman of the shift, was in charge of the nine men trapped in a small, intact area in a remote section of the mine.

Johnson Mum On TV Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has left unanswered the question whether President Johnson would debate Sen. Barry Goldwater on television, but quoted Goldwater as saying "I don't think a president of the United States should debate anybody."

White House Press Secretary George Reedy said that on Feb. 12, in Portland, Ore., Goldwater said: "I don't think the president of the United States should debate anyone. He could very well discuss secrets that only he knows."

Rusk Defends Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday any reduction in President Johnson's $3,516,700,000 foreign aid program "could jeopardize U.S. security."

Rusk asked for restoration of $200 million cut by the House from administration requests in an appropriations bill providing money for military and economic assistance abroad. He called the White House requests the minimum level necessary for this fiscal year.

Viet Nam Cites Red Masquerade

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam charged Wednesday that raiding parties of Communist Viet Cong soldiers masquerading in Vietnamese uniforms are stirring up trouble with Cambodia.

Foreign Minister Phan Huy Quat, in a note to the U.N. Security Council, said the Communist masqueraders have been attacking Cambodian border hamlets.

The foreign minister made the charge of Communist ruse tactics as he denied twin Cambodian charges that South Vietnamese soldiers attacked a Cambodian hamlet June 24 and that Vietnamese airplanes dropped poisonous powder, killing 76 villagers.

Northwest Power System Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP) —Agreement on a $700 million power line network linking federal, private and municipal power systems of the Pacific Northwest and Pacific Southwest was announced Wednesday.

Market Stages Mild Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a mild rally Wednesday following seven sessions in which more stocks fell than rose.

Trading perked up, with volume at 4.05 million shares compared with the very low 3.89 million of Tuesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been up as much as 3.05, closed with a net gain of only 1.32 at 838.67.

Koda Arrested, Charged, Freed On $1,000 Bail

STROUDSBURG — A grim, tight-lipped Albert Koda, 51, of Port Carbon, sat silent yesterday during arraignment before a Stroud Township justice of the peace on charges that he "did unlawfully kill and slay" six persons who lost their lives in the Marshalls Creek disaster.

Koda was the driver of a trailer carrying 15 tons of explosives that caught fire and exploded June 26 resulting in six deaths, many injuries and vast property damage.

He waived reading of the formal involuntary manslaughter charges lodged against him by State Police at a hearing before Ruth E. Miller. He was immediately freed on $1,000 bail pending action by the September term of the Monroe County Grand Jury.

Koda's bail was posted by the Insurance Company of North America, which insures the American Cyanamid Co. Cyanamid, Koda's employer, manufactured the explosives and owned the trailer he was hauling.

Koda Surrenders

Honoring arrangements made by James R. Marsh, county district attorney and Atty. Francis H. E. Ede of Pen Argyl, his lawyer, Koda surrendered voluntarily yesterday morning at 10:30 p.m. in the Stroudsburg State Police sub-station.

He was arrested, photographed and fingerprinted at the sub-station by Stanley Komosinsky, state police fire marshall, who investigated the accident.

Komosinsky, who is acting as the prosecuting police officer, then took Koda to the 15-minute hearing.

Atty. James T. Kitson of Stroudsburg, who represented Ede at the hearing, then told Mrs. Miller, Koda was waiving the hearing and was prepared to post bond.

Koda, however, read the warrant charging him with negligence in the accident.

The warrent specifically charges Koda with killing:

Francis E. Miller of Marshalls Creek, Leonard R. Mosier of East Stroudsburg RD 1 and Edward F. Hines of Marshalls Creek, all Marshalls Creek volunteer firemen blown to death, battling the burning trailer.

Also John W. Regina, of East Stroudsburg RD 1, who lived nearby and was walking toward the scene to help; Joseph J. Horvath of Scranton, a passing trucker who turned in the early morning alarm, and Lillian Paesch of Baltimore, who was killed while sitting in a car stalled in traffic near the scene.

'Gross Negligence'

The warrant states:

"In that he did then and there leave unattended the aforesaid trailer knowing the same to contain explosive materials with no signs on the trailer denoting the explosive contents, and other acts of gross and wanton negligence without regard for human life.

"Upon leaving the trailer unattended, it did explode, resulting in the aforesaid deaths, injury to many persons and vast property damage."

Mrs. Miller said she will file a transcript of the proceedings with the county court in "a couple of days."

As far as she was concerned, Mrs. Miller said Koda was only charged with one count of involuntary manslaughter. "What the district attorney does might be different," Mrs. Miller said.

Also at the hearing were William Straub, county detective, and John B. Davis, representing the insurance company.

Social Security Increase Voted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed legislation Wednesday that would give a 5 per cent raise to the 20 million retired or disabled workers, widows and children who receive Social Security payments.

A 388-8 roll call vote sent the bill to the Senate.

If the Senate approves the measure, the additional benefits estimated to total $925 million annually will begin flowing two months after the bill is signed.

To pay for them, an increase in Social Security payroll taxes, initially a hike of as much as $31.20 a year each for employers and employes, would go into effect Jan. 1.

However, some senators plan to try to write into the bill a version of the health plan for the aged favored by President Johnson. Such a move, if successful, could lead to a Senate-House fight with unpredictable results in the final weeks of the congressional session.

Besides raising benefits, the legislation would add present and future beneficiaries to the Social Security system which now covers nearly all Americans privately employed.

The largest group would consist of persons now in their 70s or older who had paid, or whose breadwinners had paid, some Social Security tax during working years but not enough under present rules to qualify for retirement. The bill would provide a new minimum payment of $35 a month under liberalized rules estimated to make 600,000 persons, mostly women, eligible.

In adition, the coverage afforded children of deceased workers would be extended beyond the present 18-year cutoff age for young people continuing their education. They would continue to receive payments while in school or college up to age 22. It was estimated this change would add 275,000 to the rolls and result in $175 million a year payments.

Another change would extend Social Security coverage to 170,000 doctors of medicine and interines, described as the last large occupational group not covered.

Firemen, Police

Some groups of firemen and policemen also would be authorized to join the system, if they and their municipalities approved.

The new benefit scales provided by the bill would range from $42 to $133.40 for a single worker, up to $281.20 for a family including dependent children. Ultimately, as enough time passed for workers to acquire maximum coverage at the new rates, the maximums would reach $143.40 for a worker, $300 for a family.

Stroudsburg Discusses New Park

STROUDSBURG — The possibility of creating a municipal park between Interstate Rt. 80 and McMichaels Creek, west of Broad St., Stroudsburg was discussed last night at a meeting of the Stroudsburg Borough Planning and Zoning Commission.

The proposed park would be in conjunction with Project 70, a state act setting up funds for such projects.

The commission voted to file "a statement of interest" with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Community Development on Project 70.

The commission also voted to present a two page public questionnaire and letter explaining the purpose of the questionnaire at the next Stroudsburg Borough Council meeting for comment. The questionnaire deals with proposed borough planning.

In other business the commission:

—Reviewed a letter from the Water Resources Assn. of the Delaware River basin regarding creation of a Tocks Island Regional Council of local governmental officials.

R. M. Hoot, commission secretary, said, "Such a council is needed to coordinate the activities of all governing bodies involved in the Tocks Island area."

—Voted to ask consulting engineers, Candeub, Cabot and Associates, for a model building ordinance. The ordinance will be discussed at a future meeting.

Good Morning!

Most of us are in favor of reform. What burns us up is being reformed by somebody no better than we are.

Barry Sees New GOP Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater enlisted three top Republicans Wednesday, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton among them, in his crusade to forge a unified party and wrest the White House from President Johnson.

"I'm very pleased with the way the Republican party seems to be coming back together," the GOP presidential nominee declared Wednesday.

Goldwater announces that Scranton will serve as host when he summons Republican leaders from across the nation into a summit conference on party unity next month at Hershey, Pa.

Bliss, Hall Named

He named Ohio GOP Chairman Ray Bliss and the party's former national chairman, Leonard Hall, to serve on a steering and planning committee that will map his campaign strategy and schedule.

Goldwater announced those moves at an impromptu news conference, with Bliss at his side.

The GOP presidential nominee, fresh from a conference with his party's top congressional leaders, also:

— Said he thinks Johnson eventually will agree to meet him in televised campaign debates, but suggested a new format and added he still is "apprehensive" about the possibility that secret information could slip out in a wide open meeting.

2-Man Delegates

Goldwater called for two-man debates, without the panels of newsmen who questioned former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the late President John F. Kennedy in their 1960 campaign meetings. He said in foreign affairs and military areas the nominees would have to "tread very carefully."

— Commented he is convinced after meeting with Johnson last Friday that inflammatory talk, particularly about a white backlash against the civil rights movement, will be kept out of the campaign at the nominees' level. Goldwater said he hopes other people who speak out during the presidential race will be careful, too.

Wounds Healed

But Goldwater said most of the wounds left by the convention already have healed, and only a few Republicans have indicated they won't go along with the national ticket.

The appointments Goldwater announced Wednesday signaled his headway toward unity.

Scranton campaigned— sometimes bitterly — against Goldwater's nomination. Bliss labored throughout the primary campaign to keep Ohio's delegation uncommitted. And Hall is said by Goldwater aides to have told them privately he was committed to the fortunes of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Ranger Moonshot Chances Are Good

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ranger 7 cruised on course toward the moon Wednesday and jubilant scientists gave it an 80 per cent chance of returning the first close-up pictures of unknown terrain where astronauts may land.

They predicted it will smash, while traveling 5,800 miles an hour, into the Sea of Clouds at 8:25 a.m. EST Friday.

If all goes well the insect-shaped spacecraft's six television cameras will return more than 4,000 photographs in the final 13 minutes before destruction — to provide the first success in the trouble-plagued $200 million lunar exploration program.

Ranger Project Manager Harris Schurmeier, source of the 80 per cent estimate, told a news conference at the jet propulsion laboratory:

Mid-Course Change

"We have passed the major problem of mid-course maneuver and the vehicle now is cruising. We are studying to determine whether there is a need for a final maneuver about an hour before impact to train cameras at the best angle."

Director William H. Pickering of the laboratory, which made the Ranger and is tracking it, agreed with Schurmeier's odds, but added: "There still is that critical moment when we have to order the spacecraft to turn on its television cameras."

When the critical moment came for the predecessor Ranger 6, the cameras failed.

The target area is a wide plain on the moon's lighted side.

The area is the Sea of Clouds, called the Mare Nubium by the ancients, who thought dark blotches on the moon were bodies of water. It is a 300-mile-wide plain just above the equator and on the left half of the lighted side of the moon.

Scott Delays Decision On Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said Wednesday he was holding in abeyance his decision as to whether to support Sen. Barry Goldwater in the presidential campaign this fall.

Scott, who is running for reelection in Pennsylvania, said he would hold a further series of meetings, including one with Goldwater himself, before reaching a final decision.

In addition, Scott said he planned to confer with his four Republican running mates for state office in the Commonwealth before making the decision. This meeting, he said, may take place Aug. 7 at Harrisburg.

Asked if his comments meant that it was unlikely he would support Goldwater, Scott answered:

"I'm suggesting that I have held important decisions in abeyance before and this is one of them.

"This is not indecision. I simply want to get the views of all concerned.

Goldwater Attacked; Negro Vote Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — Six national civil rights leaders called Wednesday for a "broad curtailment, if not total moratorium" on all mass marches, picketing and other demonstrations until after the Nov. 3 presidential election.

In a statement following a two-hour civil rights "summit meeting," the leaders were critical of Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater and called on Negroes to step up voter registration and political activity.

"We believe that racism has been injected into the campaign by the Goldwater forces, the statement said. "The senator, himself, maintains his position that civil rights matters should be left to the states."

"Clear Language"

They said that was "clear enough language for any Negro American."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the statement could not be interpreted as a pro-Johnson document.

"There are a lot of Republicans we don't want to see go down the drain," Wilkins told newsmen. "We don't want to say that any good leader who happens to be a Republican should be thrown out the window."

The statement described the GOP platform as a "state's rights" platform, and attributed its authorship to "the Goldwater forces" at the convention.

"The proponents of liberalizing the civil rights planks of the platform to include specifics of the obligation of the federal government were hooted down," the leaders contended.

"The platform as adopted called for 'maximum restraint' of federal 'intrusion into matters more productively left to the individual,'" the statement said, adding:

Enlist Voters

"We call upon our members and supporters to utilize the months ahead to enlist voters, to expand the enforcement of the new Civil Rights Act and to win new friends and new supporters for the civil rights cause. . ."

"In our view the election contest which is shaping up is a more imperative reason for a moratorium on demonstrations than any local or state condition that has confronted our forces heretofore," the statement said.

"We see the whole climate of liberal democracy in the United States, the climate in which government has been brought properly into the service and protection of the people, threatened," the statement added.

Negro Vote Drive

The statement called for a "temporary change of emphasis and tactics" in the civil rights movement, wherein the "major energy" would be aimed at encouraging "the Negro people, North and South, to register to vote."

The leaders emphasized in a news conference following the meeting that their appeal was not intended to halt small local civil rights demonstrations.

Deplore Rioting

In a separate statement, the civil rights leaders deplored recent rioting in New York City and Rochester and recommended establishment of a local civilian review board to consider cases of alleged police brutality.

They rejected the participation of extremist organizations.

U. S. Sues To Stop Restaurant Bias

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government brought its first suit under the new civil rights law Wednesday, charging that 15 eating places in Tuscaloosa, Ala., have violated the law by refusing to serve Negroes.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy demanded, in the suit filed in U.S. District Court, Birmingham, that the restaurants and lunch counters be forbidden to discriminate against Negroes.

It marks the first time Kennedy has resorted to a provision of the Civil Rights Act which permits the attorney general, rather than private individuals, to initiate a suit when he finds a "pattern or practice" of discrimination.

And it marks the third major legal test of the controversial public accommodations section of the law, which was signed by President Johnson less than four weeks ago.

The federal court in Atlanta upheld the law in the two other cases—one by a motel challenging its constitutionality, the other by Negroes complaining that an Atlanta restaurant had refused to serve them. Both have been ordered to integrate, and have announced plans to appeal the decisions to the Supreme Court.

The suit filed Wednesday covers virtually every sizable restaurant and lunch counter in Tuscaloosa, except a hotel restaurant and a cafeteria that dropped their racial bars after the law took effect July 2.

The complaint charges that the alleged discrimination has constituted a "pattern and practice of resistance to the full and equal enjoyment by Negroes of the goods, service, facilities, privileges and advantages" of the establishments.

Demos Pick Sen. Pastore As Keynoter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats picked a fiery Johnsonian, Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, as their keynoter Wednesday—then took a gingerly approach to what could be the most divisive row of the 1964 Democratic National Convention.

This revolves around the question. Should the convention seat an all-white delegation from Mississippi, sent by a state convention which has carefully kept the door open to defection to Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater?

Or should it seat a delegation from the predominantly Negro Democratic Freedom party, expected to back President Johnson to the hilt?

Queen Picked For Water Gap's 75th Anniversary

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Linda Kitchen has been elected queen of the celebration of Delaware Water Gap's 75th anniversary as a borough.

She will be crowned by famous band-leader Fred Waring in ceremonies set for 8 p.m. tomorrow. The celebration will run Friday and Saturday.

Elected to Miss Kitchen's court were Donna Widdoss and Linda Werkeiser. The girls will be honored Saturday by breakfast at Hickory Valley Farms Restaurant, lunch at the Glenwood Hotel, and dinner at the Water Gap Country Club.

Mayor Arthur B. Lehr proclaimed the celebration recently, saying "the past seventy-five years have been a time of prosperity and of happiness in our borough.'

"I think everyone will have a good time. They're all welcome," the mayor added.

Eighth Wonder

Water Gap, often called the eighth scenic wonder of the world, was the biggest mountain resort east of the Mississippi from the 1870's until the depression years, Lehr said.

People came out from the cities by train to stay at the Gap. At that time the Poconos had not been developed as a resort area. Lehr reported that the Poconos began development "from about 1910 on."

A full program has been developed for the celebration. Lehr said that practically every school child is in a contest of some sort, while their elders will also be honored.

A 30 by 60 foot platform has been set up on a lot on Main St. for speakers and musicians. Main St. poles have been decorated with red and white roses, and a 12-foot borough insignia tops the platform.

Lehr has appointed three special policemen increasing the force to nine men for duty Friday and Saturday, the two days of the celebration.

Saturday will feature a parade at 8 p.m. Those entering floats are: Deer Head Inn, Chenille Shop, Waring Workshop, Point of Gap, Blue Note Inn, Water Gap Cabins, Cherry Valley Inn, Glenwood Hotel, and Wild Animal Farm.

Also Adrian's, Carney Rose Horses, Mountain House, Water Gap Country Club, Bridge View Inn, Kittatinny Beach, Osborne Motel, W.S.C. Society Band, Little League Baseball, Bear Stop, Hickory Valley Farm, Air Civil Defense, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and the Fire Company.

An essay contest for area school children was held. Dr. David Schulmann will present a copy of a scroll painted by a famous artist and given to Caroline Kennedy on President Kennedy's inaugural to the child who writes the best essay on "My Home Town." A cash award will also be given the winner.

Art Exhibit

The porch of the vacant White Fawn House, opposite the bandstand, will be used as a display area for art and handcraft submitted by youngsters. There is also a display of antique photographs and mementos of earlier days. Mr. and Mrs. Elmendorf Runyan have been asked to take charge of the committee.

Historical display items have been received from Joseph Hauser, Lester Smith, Percy Decker, Dr. David Shulmann, Layton Osborne, and Joseph Wallace.

Mrs. Louis Smolak is chairman of the hot-dog stand and will be assisted by Mrs. Willard Jennings and Mrs. Stephen Matos.

State News Roundup

Musmanno Files Decision Appeal

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno's appeal against the state Supreme Court's ruling in the wrong line balloting dispute was accepted Wednesday by the high court's prothonotary.

The appeal, filed by Atty. Abraham Freedman, was refused by the prothonotary's office here Tuesday on the grounds it was premature.

Edward L. Graham, a clerk in the office, said he was ordered Wednesday by Patrick Bolsinger, Supreme Court prothonotary, to accept the appeal for a rehearing or reargument.

Graham, who said he refused to accept the papers from Freedman on advice of Chief Justice John C. Bell Jr., reported Wednesday's order came from Bolsinger via telephone from Pittsburgh.

Miller Coming To Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, Republican nominee for vice president, will be in Harrisburg Aug. 7 for a party leadership conference in connection with the fall campaign, it was announced Wednesday.

Republican State Chairman Craig Truax, who made the announcement, said Miller is appearing at the invitation of Gov. Scranton.

Scranton, who unsuccessfully sought the presidential nomination at the national convention in San Francisco, pledged his support to the ticket of Sen. Barry Goldwater and Miller.

Miller first will address the Republican State Executive Committee, then join in a leadership meeting at the Penn-Harris hotel.

"We will present our campaign plans for the entire ticket," said Truax. "We will run a winning, balanced campaign that will benefit Republican candidates at every level.'

Government Sues Hazleton Mayor

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — The mayor of Hazleton was charged with failing to pay certain employes of one of his private businesses legal overtime in a federal court civil action filed Wednesday by U. S. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

The suit against Mayor Joseph B. Conahan, who operates a business for contract mailing U. S. mail from his home, was filed in conjunction with a consent judgment under which Conahan agreed to pay 14 employes $3,985 in back wages. He also agreed to refrain from additional violations of the U. S. Fair Labor Standards Act.

Integration Plan For Chester?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The chairman of the State Human Relations Commission said Tuesday it is "extremely unlikely" that the Chester Board of Education will be forced to accept a compulsory integration plan before school reopens in September.

Commission Chairman Harry M. Boyer said, after a commission meeting here, that he did not think the board would be able to "evaluate testimony (from public hearings) and come up with an order before the start of the school term."

Boyer said the commission must wait until legal motions are filed by Guy G. DeFuria, Chester board of education special counsel.

DeFuria has said the commission does not have the authority to order the school system to integrate.

Army Worms Invade Crops

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday Pennsylvania farmers face a new threat to crop production as army worms invade corn, and oats and alfalfa.

The army worms, so - called because they appear to march in ragged columns and devour all vegetation in their path, have become a serious problem in sections of Erie, Warren and Crawford counties, the service reported in its weekly summary of crop and weather conditions.

Meanwhile, the Crop Reporting Service said scattered showers last week slowed grain combining and haymaking in some areas, adding:

"Early peaches and apples are smaller than usual, but the quality is good. Sweet corn quality and yields are good, and a fair yield of early potatoes is in prospect. Tobacco is making excellent growth."

Led By Mrs. Strickland

3,000 Tickets For Lema Golf

STROUDSBURG—Mrs. Edmund A. Strickland, the one-woman committee, of Mt. Pocono, has completed plans for the distribution of tickets for the Thunderbird Classic Golf Exhibition Friday featuring Tony Lema.

Lema won the 1964 Thunderbird Invitational and the British Open.

Distribution of most of the 3,000 tickets for the exhibition at the Glen Brook Country Club is nearly complete.

Mrs. Strickland was assisted by Marty Baldwin and Bill Nixon, who have distributed tickets to country clubs in Easton, Bethlehem, Allentown, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Milford.

Mrs. Strickland is president of the Women's Club of the Stroudsburgs and the Anna Logan Hospital Auxiliary.

To Organize Women

Mrs. Walter McClelland, Mrs. Eleanor Christine and Mrs. Evan Reese volunteered to help organize about 30 women to sell exhibition tickets at the course Friday.

They will be posted at selected spots around the clubhouse to sell tickets and present tags to buyers. The sellers will be identified by a pastel "tickets" badge provided by Mrs. Edward Steinhauer. They are to assemble at the clubhouse Friday at 11:30 a. m.

Mrs. Strickland herself delivered tickets to Tamiment, The Inn at Buck Hill Falls, Skytop Lodge, Shawnee Inn, and Pocono Manor.

"I have always been fairly active in business matters and particularly enjoy working when I feel I am doing something to help others. In this case, the small $3.00 donation for the ticket to the Tony Lema exhibition goes to the General Hospital of Monroe County.

"I can't think of a finer way nor an easier way for anyone to serve their community than to support this worthy cause," she said.

Eastburg RD Man 'Adopts' 12-Year-Old Filipino Boy

EAST STROUDSBURG — A 12-year-old poverty-stricken Filipino boy has been financially "adopted" by John A. Farrington of East Stroudsburg, RD 1 through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc. of New York.

The organization said the boy Rodolfo De Luna Hapa, will develop a warm and personal relationship with his foster parent through writing and receiving letters about his foster parent and life in the United States.

The foster parent has promised to contribute $15 a month for the child's support for at least a year. A photograph and detailed case history of the youth have been sent to the parent.

An "adoption" through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., of 352 Park Ave. South, N.Y.C. 10010, is financial not legal. Communications, both original and translation are transmitted by plan. The child is urged to develop good study habits and seek help when needed from the American Director and his corps of trained local social workers.

The plan has fully staffed headquarters in Greece, Italy, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Colombia and Ecuador. Prospective foster children are investigated before enrollment and appraised at intervals. A child is chosen from one of the eight countries according to sex, age, and nationality.

Currently the plan is supporting 33,000 children. In the past twenty - seven years, more than 76,000 children of 28 nationalities have been graduated from the plan care. Many have now become members of a profession in their own countries and loyal friends of the United States.

Bad $10 Bills At Monticello

SCRANTON, Pa., (AP)—Charles Youella, 40, of nearby Taylor, Pa., was arrested Tuesday night charged with passing counterfeit $10 bills at the Monticello, N.Y., race track.

He was taken to New York City for a hearing today before a U.S. commissioner.

Robert E. Power, special agent in charge of the Scranton secret service office, who announced the arrest, said bogus $10 bills have been showing up in this city for the past week.

Powis said the investigation is continuing and other arrests are expected.

Youella was taken into custody by Monticello security officers.

FBI To Discuss Rights Policing

ALLENTOWN — A conference on FBI law enforcement for 1964 will be held Aug. 5 at the Lehigh Farmers Cooperative, 1026 N. 7th St., Allentown. The conference will begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 1 p.m.

The new Civil Rights Act and the ever present police problem of the fugitive will be discussed, according to Joe D. Jamieson, Special Agent in Charge of the Philadelphia FBI Office. Invitations have been sent to all law enforcement officers in Eastern Pennsylvania, Jamieson said.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that nation-wide conferences are being held due to the many requests received from police officers concerning the relationship of the Civil Rights Act to law enforcement on all levels.

Reading To Drop Passenger Runs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Reading Railroad says it will file by Sept. 29 for permission to drop all passenger services unless assured that state and local governments will help alleviate the financial burden of continuing such services.

Last year the Reading carried 8.3 million passengers in the Philadelphia area.

H. Merle Mulloy, Reading vice president and general counsel, said Tuesday the Reading expects a financial crisis a year from now, and intends to eliminate its passenger services losses of some $3.3 million a year.

He said preliminary talks already have begun with the state Commerce Department and local governments, involving a matching-funds program. There are, he said, proposals calling for the state to pay two-thirds and local governments one-third toward subsidizing of the Reading and other mass transit companies serving Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and other communities. This would involve $12 million a year, Mulloy asserted.

But without firm assurances that such a program will be adopted, he said, the Reading will file with the Public Utility Commission on Sept. 29 to discontinue all of its passenger services. The action would include even those Reading commuter lines already subsidized by the Passenger Service Improvement Corp. and the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Compact.

Mulloy said the Reading would file next month to discontinue passenger service outside the Philadelphia metropolitan area, meaning service beyond Norristown and Lansdale, Pa., and West Trenton, N.J.

The West Trenton line runs through to New York, so the Interstate Commerce Commission would be involved.

This outer - area cut alone would reduce Reading's losses by $900,000 a year, Mulloy said.

"There is no public need for such service," he added, "and the Reading sees no likelihood of government aid to continue it."

Erie Judge Knocks Down 'Gypsy Law'

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — An Erie County judge has ruled that Pennsylvania's so-called "gypsy law" violates the state constitution.

Judge Elmer L. Evans made the interpretation Tuesday in dismissing charges against three men arrested as gypsies without $50 licenses required by law.

The judge, who termed the defendants "peddlers" rather than "gypsies," said the state constitution prohibits restrictions on any group because of race, creed, color or ethnic background.

Durwood Wilson, Arthur Ross and Henry Smith, ages and addresses unknown, had been held on $1,000 bond each for an Aug. 17 hearing. They were arrested at a trailer camp in nearby Wesleyville last Friday.

Judge Evans ruled the men could not be considered gypsies under the original definition of the term as a tribe originating in India, and therefore could not be bound by the state law.

The men reportedly were working their way to Texas after a visit to the World's Fair.

Hospital Wing Designed To Thwart Nurse Shortage

By CHARLES McNETT
Daily Record Reporter

EAST STROUDSBURG —Current nursing shortage may not hurt Monroe County General Hospital when it increases its staff after opening of the new $2 million wing about Sept. 15, according to Charles Swisher, assistant hospital superintendent.

Swisher said design of floors housing patinets at the new facility will cut down on the size of staff necessary to man nursing stations.

He said that the administration would have to experiment to determine the exact number of personnel needed at each station. Swisher hopes to be able to use four registered nurses and five auxiliary personnel to care for the 32 patients on a floor.

This represents a significantly larger number of patients per nurse than can be served in the old wings.

The assistant superintendent reported that the architect's design features a block of service facilities down the center of the wing, with patients' rooms on each side. A corridor will separate the service area from each side of 8 semiprivate rooms.

Intercom System

In addition, he said, each bed will be equipped with an intercom system connected to the nurses station in the middle of the service block. The nurse will be able to talk directly to the patient. She will not have to go to the room to ask what the patient wants, and then return to get it as she must with the present buzzer system.

Swisher also described the layout of the new wing. The basement will contain central supply, purchasing, storage, housekeeping, an auxiliary generator in case of power failure, a new boiler room, and laboratories.

Ground floor of the six-story addition is devoted to pediatrics, while the second and third floors contain 16 double rooms each. Fourth floor will have 16 private rooms, and the remaining two stories will not be completed at the presenet.

Another design feature, he said, was the extensive use of wall tile, which will cut down maintenance and eliminate a yearly paint job.

To Be Converted

With the opening of a new wing, the old wing will no longer be used for patient housing, he added. It will be converted for interne and resident physician's quarters, and house a large meeting room, child guidance, visiting nurses, tumor clinic, and pediatric and outpatient clinics.

Swisher said the hospital administration has orders with all professional placement bureaus, state employment service, nursing schools and others for nurses to staff the facility.

13 Deeds Filed

STROUDSBURG — Eleven deeds were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette Batory, Monroe County recorder.

One deed showed that the Leah and Max Alpert home, "Hooky," near Snydersville, was sold for $32,500.

The Alperts sold the home and a little over four acres to Peter C. Cohen and Eden Gray of New York City.

Other deeds included two from Clinton R. and Mary Aldent of Middle Smithfield Twp., one to LeRoy J. Verdon of Philadelphia, the other to Joseph S. and Marie L. Kelley of Treyose, Pa., both properties in Middle Smithfield Twp.

There were also three deeds from Pocono Lakeshore, Inc., to Charles J. and Helen McFadden of Summit Hill; to James and Helen W. Taylor of Philadelphia; to Edmond L. and Mary G. Thompson of New Market, N.J.

Other deeds were Harvey W. and Wanda L. Huffman of Marshalls Creek to Robert L. and Jean A. Wolbert of Stroudsburg, property in Middle Smithfield Twp.; Locust Lake Village to James C. Sweeney of Hazleton, John E. Yanno of McAdoo, and Edward J. Bonner of Elizabeth, N.J.

Also Simon and Lillian Yellin of Newark, N.J. to Kermit and Helen Boyd of Lehighton, property in Polk Twp.; John J. and Elizabeth M. Ryan of Philadelphia to James A. and Irma L. Woolbert of S. Ozone Park, N.Y., property in Coolbaugh Twp.

Also Nicholas A. and Johanna M. Post of Tobyhanna Twp. to Pasquale and Thelma V. Matfiucci of Newton Square, Pa., property in Tobyhanna Twp.

We should all be prepared when the time comes — make your selection of a suitable Memorial now.

Quick Work By Hotelman Snuffs Fire

STROUDSBURG — A 65-year-old Penn-Stroud garage attendant extinguished a canvas awning fire at Frances Burrows Dress Shop at 718 Main St., Stroudsburg Tuesday about 11:40 p.m.

George V. (Bean) Palmer of 271 Wilson Ave., East Stroudsburg said "I was working in the garage when the hotel's night desk man, Lester Smith told me to get up front in a hurry.

"He said to get a fire extinguisher that the awning of the dress shop was burning."

"I've been working for the hotel for about three months now. This is the first time something like this happened to me. I grabbed the liquid-type fire extinguisher and put the fire out. The awning was down at the time. There was a hole burned in it about the size of a basketball. It was probably caused by someone throwing a cigarette up there," he said.

Mrs. G. E. McGuire, manager of the shop, said yesterday she had not noticed the hole. "But I did wonder what had happened to the window. It looked as if someone had sprayed it with something," she said.

The awning is about 10 feet off the ground. "I'd certainly like to thank the man who extinguished the fire. It could have turned into a serious one. We had an awning fire some time ago that was similar to this one. But it was worse," she said.

Civil Rights Moratorium

Six national leaders of the Negro civil rights movement have asked for a moratorium on civil rights demonstrations until after the Presidential election Nov. 3.

While the right to peaceful protest, picketing and other forms of legal demonstration for the civil rights movement should never be denied, the fact is that some of the most "nonviolent" demonstrations have led to violent and ugly incidents all over the nation.

This usually has been the fault not of the demonstrators, but of the mobs who attacked them. Nevertheless, the public blames the demonstrators for starting it all.

For this reason, civil rights demonstrations, no matter how justified, have often done more harm than good to the Negro cause.

The recent riots in Harlem, Brooklyn and Rochester, New York, by enraged Negroes, hoodlums, criminals and extremists have done even more harm to the cause of racial integration in America.

The vast majority of Negroes do not condone such riots. A large percentage of Negroes do not support even peaceful public protests for the cause of civil rights.

They prefer to win their rights in Congress, in the courts and in the voting booths, where they have been very successful.

It appears that the call for a moratorium during the presidential campaign is an open admission of the fact that the recent riots and year-long demonstrations have irritated many moderate whites, and have added to the supporters of Barry Goldwater.

The Negro leaders are obviously anxious to stop helping the Goldwater campaign. Their call for a moratorium is wise in this political sense.

But if respected, it will help the Negro cause, no matter who wins the Presidency.

Interstate Highway Signs

The State Highway Department began a campaign to bring down signs within 660 feet of Interstate Rt. 80 in Monroe County last March.

The state was acting under federal interstate highway program regulations which give any state one half of one per cent of the cost of interstate highways if all signs within 660 feet of such superhighways are removed by the state.

Pennsylvania enacted the necessary state law to carry out this part of the interstate highway partnership, in which the federal government pays 90 per cent and the state pays 10 per cent of the cost of interstate highway construction.

Now the state is starting to work. In March condemnation maps citing 65 such signs between the limits of Stroudsburg borough and the Scotrun end of Interstate Rt. 80 were filed in the Monroe County prothonotary's office.

Considerable legal maneuvering will be necessary for the state to complete even this limited assault on interstate highway signs.

Signs within 50 feet of a business advertised, signs with borough limits, and signs not visible from the highway, although within 660 feet, are exempt. There may be other loopholes.

So far, five months have passed and little action has been taken. In fact, more signs have appeared along this section of Interstate Rt. 80.

The problem will get worse if the state does not move more swiftly.

Pennsylvania might take a tip from New York State on this subject. New York, after pursuing all other methods, has finally resorted to more violent means of enforcing the interstate sign ban.

It has sent out highway crews to tear down signs which owners refused to take down and for which owners refused state damage payments.

Maybe that's the only way to get the job done.

Comment Of The Day

"There are a lot of good Republicans we don't want to see go down the drain. We don't want to say that any good leader who happens to be a Republican should be thrown out the window."

—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, describing Negro feeling against Republican Presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

Walter Lippmann

The Nuclear Pause

By Walter Lippmann

WASHINGTON — Comparing the Goldwater platform and speeches with the Johnson performance, one can begin to see, I think, that the two men differ on two overriding questions.

The first is whether we must move toward or can move away from a thermonuclear showdown with the Soviet Union.

The second is whether we should take up the unfinished business of internal reform and development, which has ben interrupted by the wars of this generation.

The Johnson administration, has been proceeding on the fundamental assumption that we can move away from thermonuclear war and that this enables us to deal with the unfinished internal business which we cannot afford to neglect any longer.

The Johnson administration has taken off from the point which the Kennedy administration achieved — from the fact that the nuclear showdown has already taken place.

As a test of will, the showdown took place in the Cuban missile confrontation; as a test of nuclear capability, the showdown took place in the parallel Soviet and American nuclear tests which preceded the test ban treaty.

In those tests both sides failed to win the radical breakthrough which would have changed the existing balance of nuclear power. American nuclear superiority was not challenged by the tests.

Nor was the fact changed that American superiority is very far short of American supremacy, that is to say, of American capacity to dictate a settlement of the Soviet Union.

The net result is a balance of nuclear power in which both sides are mutually deterred.

Neither side can impose its will upon the other, neither can dominate its own allies and neither can impose a military solution even on weak countries, such as Albania or Cuba or Vietnam.

As a result, there is a pause, a lull, an unratified truce which cannot be altered drastically in our favor by brinkmanship, that is by threatening nuclear war. So thorough has been the showdown and so deeply have the minds of men been impressed by it that brinkmanship is out of date: it has been deflated into mere bluffing.

This pause, this lull, this unratified truce is a condition which the American people have not known during the 30 years or more since Japan invaded Manchuria and Hitler rose in Germany.

A whole generation of Americans has grown up in a time when the main preoccupation was war — the Second World War, the Korean War, the Cold War.

To the questions of how to avoid war, how to prepare for war, how to wage war, the American people have had to give their prime attention, their best energy, enormous wealth and many lives.

For this unavoidable preoccupation with war a very big price has had to be paid. The price paid by the war generation has been the neglect of the internal affairs of the nation.

The Johnson administration's policy is based on the pause, the lull, the unratified truce—not on eternal peace, not on general disarmament, but on the achievement of a balance of nuclear power which establishes and compels an armistice in the cold war.

Lyndon Johnson is the first American President in a generation who has been free to turn much of his attention for awhile at least to the unfinished domestic business which for so long has had to be neglected.

Senator Goldwater differs sharply from President Johnson both in his estimate of the condition of international affairs and in his beliefs about domestic affairs. Senator Goldwater denies that there has been a showdown.

Indeed, he rarely even mentions the Cuban missile confrontation. His belief is that we shall come to a series of showdowns, not only where there is revolutionary Communist activity, but also when we come to give active American support to revolutionary movements in Eastern Europe and within the Soviet Union itself.

'It's In Here Somewhere'

The Pennsylvania Story

Scranton Hostility

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG—When Governor Scranton revisits Capitol Hill next week following his post GOP Convention recuperation vacation, there will be little tootling of horns and lutes announcing a hero's return!

Quite to the contrary; it is becoming evident that many a GOPolitico heretofore solidly in the Scrantonian camp is burned to the gills at the turn events have taken since Mr. Scranton earlier in the month embarked with flags unfurled for the San Francisco hoedown.

Many of those who once loudly and pridefully proclaimed support of the Scranton presidential candidacy in the early days are now—artfully—silent, simmering and resentful.

What has happened on this score is interesting, and only now is coming to light.

As you talk to legislative candidates in particular and/or junior politicos from the counties, the one theme that seemingly predominates is the negative reaction to the unexpected outcome of the Scranton White House bid.

This does not refer to the fact that he lost to the Goldwater steamroller; the flattening that developed was more or less expected.

But what has singed the scalps of these (onetime) ardent backers of Mr. Scranton is the appalling negative reaction over the conduct of the Scranton campaign at the GOP convention.

The Scrantonian antics that blew the convention lock, stock and saddlehorn into the Goldwater lap were completely unexpected by most of his heretofore loyal supporters, hangers-on and what-not.

They expected a "conventional" campaign for the bid which would leave both them and Mr. Scranton sitting comfortably on the plush chair.

Instead of this they now find themselves sitting on a needle about as long as the distance between Harrisburg and San Francisco.

You'll find many a legislative candidate for example, torn between running with the ticket, independent of Mr. Goldwater—and independent of Mr. Scranton.

The Governor has indicated that he will campaign this fall in behalf of the ticket and fellow GOP candidates, which as a Republican nominally could be expected.

The question now however is whether this campaigning by Mr. Scranton will do more harm than good.

For many a candidate looking to his own candidacy hide the answer at this point seems to be one of: The less the Governor injects himself into the picture this fall the better.

These home front candidates are finding a growing area of resentment against the Governor and his convention antics on the part of their constituents that has them firmly on the worrywart fence.

The delicate question with which they are now faced is how to keep Mr. Scranton out of their local picture in the months of campaigning ahead.

This in itself is somewhat of a switch from the usual pattern; a pattern that almost invariably in the past has found local candidates clamoring for gubernatorial support.

All of this is tending to brew a rather unusual and complex legislative possibility in the remaining two and a half years for Mr. Scranton as Pennsylvania's chief executive.

In the legislative sessions ahead what will be the stand of those legislators in both House and Senate who manage to emerge victorious this fall—"in spite of" the Governor?

In effect such a course poses the very strong possibility of a cleavage between the Governor and legislators of his own party; a cleavage that is, that could simply and pointedly leave Mr. Scranton without the complete legislative support he needs in the sessions ahead.

A coalition of anti-administration Democratic lawmakers and irked anti-Scranton GOP lawmakers could raise thunderous hob with the Scranton people and their programs in the legislative sessions of 1965 and 1966.

Suffice it to say that at the moment there is a growing fear among many a local candidate, particularly on the legislative front, that the more campaigning Mr. Scranton does this fall, the less will be their own chances of winning in November!

Off The Record:

—By BOB CLARK

New Title For Clark?

More than just a few of Monroe County's Democrats will have to do an about face for Miss Genevieve Blatt, ajudged winner of the State Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

Monday's verdict by the State Supreme Court also established U.S. Sen. Joseph Clark as titular head of the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania.

Despite party organization locally, Miss Blatt carried Monroe County in her battle with Judge Michael Musmanno, the powers-to-be choice. Also statewide, the current Secretary of Internal Affairs bucked the machine and ran strong across the 67 counties.

Most Democratic bosses in Monroe kept their tongue in cheek, regarding the Blatt - Musmanno runoff. But one, however, Harry Ryder of Paradise Twp. was a staunch Blatt supporter from the outset. Officially, though, the party organization locally had to bow to state wishes, and back Musmanno. But they didn't do it at the polls as the results show.

Ryder's support should hold him in good standing in the upper crust of the Clark machine. Aside this, Ryder who was elected a delegate to the Democratic National Convention next month in Atlantic City, should be riding high on the hog when convening time rolls around.

A member of the Demos' Monroe hierarchy told us "we have to swallow our tongues and work that much harder for Miss Blatt in the fall."

Another, not so high, as he puts it, said, "That's the way the ball bounces. I backed a loser. That's all there is to it."

Monroe's Demo supporters of Musmanno or if you prefer, the machine's candidate, can't tighten their belts between now and November and heal whatever wounds that have occurred. But Philadelphia and Pittsburgh region bosses have to take a political slap in the face.

Clark threw a monkey wrench into Philadelphia and Allegheny politics by guiding Miss Blatt to triumph. Philly's bosses are not prone to take it on the chin. Pittsburgh's leaders are not of the mold either to bury a hatchet so quickly.

November's election should be a tipoff on whether harmony has rejoined the ranks of the Demos. Miss Blatt's total against incumbent Hugh Scott — a Philadelphian by the way — will dictate just how deep Sen. Clark slipped his knife into the hard core of Democratic politicians in Pennsylvania.

About Town

—By Gene Brown

Today's Weather, Perhaps:

Farmer Brown was trying to impress a woman tourist by letting her know he could tell a lot about the weather just by looking at his cows.

"If the cows are lying down, it's going to be clear," he said. "If they are standing up, watch out for rain. They can tell when rain is in the air. They're up on their feet and feeling restless."

The woman tourist replied, "But look at your cows now. Some are standing up and some are lying down."

"Well," explained Farmer Brown, "that means that it may rain and it may not."

Losing A Natural Asset

Several boys were discussing the merits of the new office machine.

"They tell me it will do the work of three women," said one.

"Wonderful!" said another.

"Not so wonderful," said a third. "As for me, I'd rather have the three girls."

Was considering taking up parachute jumping till I read "Good Till the Next to the Last Drop."

The Allen-Scott Report

Cuban Crackdown

Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Behind Fidel Castro's bombastic fulminating against those sanctions voted by the Organization of American States is the infuriating realization that he was caught with the goods and couldn't get away with it.

This was one time the burly Communist Cuban dictator couldn't lie, intrigue or bully his way out. The irrefutable evidence was overwhelming against him.

In the long and tense closed-door deliberations that culminated with 15 of the 20 OAS nations approving the tough crackdown, the decisive factor was an unpublished report documenting in detail Red Cuba's vicious and ruthless record of inciting violence, chaos and subversion throughout Latin America.

Submitted by a five-member OAS committee appointed especially to investigate many charges and complaints, the report's unchallengeable disclosures and findings are a devastating indictment of the Castro regime and its malevolent machinations.

The report's over-all conclusion sums up graphically the scathing tenor and forcefulness of its condemnation, as follows:

"Virtually from the time the present government of Cuba came into power, that country has been converted into a true base for the promotion of subversion in other republics of the hemisphere. The purpose of extending the Communist revolution to the remainder of the hemisphere has been publicly stated by members of the present government of Cuba and brought out also in connection with invasions or attempted invasions.

"There exists a constant and systematic activity of radio propaganda, through government transmitters of Cuba, aimed at defaming the governments of other countries of the hemisphere, discrediting representative democratic institutions, insulting the executives of other republics of the hemisphere, fomenting disorders and inciting violent subversion of legally constituted regimes. The government press and the single party of the Cuban government constantly carry on work along the same line.

"In some countries, the intervention and direct participation of Cuban diplomatic and other agents in their internal affairs has been revealed. . . Various governments have reported to this committee that the repeated and numerous trips to Cuba of citizens belonging to the Communist or extreme leftist political groups have been for the purpose of instructing the said citizens in typical methods of subversive activity."

Members of the committee that unanimously presented this searing report are:

Argentine Ambassador Rodolfo Weidmann, chairman; Colombia Ambassador Alfredo Vasquez Carrizosa; Costa Rica Ambassador Gonzalo Facio; U.S. Ambassador Ward T. Allen, and Uruguay Ambassador Felix Polleri Carrio.

The Sinister Details — The committee's voluminous evidence on Castro's "acts of intervention and aggression against Venezula," which led to the demand for the drastic economic and diplomatic sanctions, is starkly conclusive and damning.

Sensational disclosures highlighting these findings are:

Former President Romulo Betancourt's testimony that, shortly before he took office, Castro personally attempted to shake him down for a $300 million loan to finance what he characterized as "the master plan against the gringos."

When Betancourt flatly balked at this, Castro retaliated with a prolonged campaign of violence, subversion, insurrections and an attempt to assassnate Batencourt.

In preparation for one invasion attempt by Communist guerrillas, some 300 tons of Cuban weapons and munitions were cached in Venezuela. The OAS investigators obtained documentary evidence that these arms were made in Belgium for Cuba, and transported to Venezuela by an aluminum boat powered by a motor purchased by the Castro regime from a Canadian company.

Betancourt told the OAS committee that shortly after his election and before he took office, he was "surprised to learn that a mass demonstration was to take place in Caracas at which one of the candidates whom I had defeated was to speak with Castro."

During Castro's visit, he conferred with Betancourt at his home and proposed the $300 million loan to finance "what he called the 'master plan against the gringos'."

Dear Abby

Occupational Hazard?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I went to a hospital and stayed there for six weeks. Last week I had to go back to the same hospital for a little corrective surgery, and what do you think the head nurse greeted me with? "Oh, no, not YOU again, Mrs. So-and-So! When the nurses hear you're back they'll shoot themselves!" Then she laughed. I failed to see anything funny in her remark. When I saw my doctor I reported the incident to him, and he laughed, too. Then he patted me on the shoulder and said, "Oh, don't pay any attention to her. She's a little screwy." Why would a hospital hire a "screwy" head nurse?

OFFENDED

DEAR OFFENDED: She probably wasn't "screwy" when they hired her.

DEAR ABBY: I have been employed in this office only a short time, but it is an ideal place to work and I would like to remain here. I am not the kind of person who indulges in gossip, but: The telephone operator here told me that the boss, a family man, is carrying on an affair with a woman who calls him at the office and uses a phony name. The telephone operator listens in on all his calls, so she is not guessing. The boss is a fine man, and seems so proud of his family that it is hard to believe that he is leading a double life. I am afraid his wife will find out about it and their home will be broken up. Should I tell the boss what I know so he can be more careful?

NEW GIRL

DEAR NEW: Mind your own business, and tell the telephone operator that if she knows what is good for her, she should mind hers. If the boss chooses to skate on thin ice, let him take his chances.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and baby-sit to earn money for clothes. About once a week I sit for a lady who is getting a divorce. She has two small children. She has all her bureau drawers and her desk drawers "sealed" with big wide strips of adhesive tape. Every closet in her house is locked, and she even keeps a padlock on her refrigerator. She told me that she trusted me, but in case I got bored or curious she didn't want me going through her things. Abby, I would never think of doing such a thing. Last time I was there she said if I tried to remove the adhesive tape and seal it back, my fingerprints would be on the tape and I'd never get away with it. This hurt me. Do you think there is something wrong with her? I'm afraid if I tell my parents they won't let me sit for her any more, and I need the money. What should I do?

NERVOUS GIRL

DEAR NERVOUS: Yes, I think there is definitely something wrong with her. Tell your parents and abide by their decision.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN NOT SLEEP" IN TROY: Tell your husband what's on your mind and give him a fair chance to defend himself. You could be wrong.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Readers Are Asking

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

WHEN hair becomes gray at an early age, does it signify a faster aging process?

No. People who become "pre-maturely gray" can live as long as anyone else.

Premature graying is usually a family characteristic. It in no way indicates any change or longevity.

—o—

Is apoplexythe same as a stroke?

"Stroke" is a general term which covers a variety of conditions technically known as "cerebro-vascular accidents".

Apoplexy, brain hemorrhage, blood clot in the brain, are all strokes, although differing in their cause and character.

The severity of a stroke often depends on the cause, and the exact area of the brain that is affected.

—o—

Is there a radiation hazard in repeated X-rays of the teeth?

Dental X-rays are generally exceedingly safe because they are low in intensity and time of exposure. Nevertheless, dentists limit their X-rays to a minimum and adhere to established levels of complete safety, to avoid the slightest danger of over-radiation.

—o—

What is meant by a "broad spectrum antibotic"?

This term describes an antibiotic which has a wide range of effectiveness against many different types of bacteria.

There are also other highly specialized antibiotics whose action is restricted to a concentrated attack on a particular disease-producing germ.

The choice of antibiotic depends on the individual condition of the patient, and can only be made by a physician.

—o—

Can bleeding from the gums be caused by poor diet?

Inadequate diet, certain chronic diseases and other special conditions may be responsible. But by far the most common cause of bleeding gums is poor dental hygiene.

Improper cleaning and care of the gums and teeth, and neglect of dental problems can result in gingivitis (inflammation and infection of the gums). The gums become very red and tender, and bleed readily when even slight pressure is applied.

Complete dental and medical examinations can reveal the cause of bleeding gums and determine the proper treatment.

Healthy gums are vitally important to the health of the entire dental structure.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Sirloin

Some fanciful stories have arisen about the origin of words. "Sirloin" is an example. In this case a fictitious story caused a change in the spelling of the word.

The story arose that a British king—Henry VIII, James I or Charles II, depending upon the version—was so pleased with the taste of a roasted loin of beef that he knighted it, calling it "Sir Loin."

That is not the origin of the word. Before the story became popular, the word was spelled "surloin."

"Sur" was borrowed from French and meant "over" or "above." Sirloin, therefore, is that cut of meat above the loin.

County Crops Suffering

STROUDSBURG — Lack of moisture during the last two months is having a serious effect on crops in the Monroe County area.

John Withrow, county extension agent, said below average rainfall during June and July is seriously threatening crops, such as corn, that need rain during their growing period.

At the same time, however, Withrow pointed out high humidity content in the air is making it difficult for farmers to dry grain crops.

Less Than Expected

Robert Fish of Milford, river master for the upper Delaware River basin said the basin has received five or six inches less rain than was expected during June and July.

Fish said small streams in the area are virtually dry. He said the present situation is comparable to the serious droughts of the past two summers.

Withrow said the high humidity is "delaying the cutting of alfalfa and the drying of hay, while at the same time crops, such as corn need rain to develope."

The extension agent said he couldn't forecast when the lack of rain will ruin this summer's crops, "because of many different conditions that exist."

He said a good harvest is dependent on such things as soil content, amount of fertilizer used, location, exposure to the sun and rock formation beneath the soil.

"One thing is certain, however, all crops should have rain right now," he aded.

A check of well drilling contractors indicate the drought has not yet affected the ground water table. No contractors reported having had to drill to below average depths to find water.

Fish pointed out the 2.23 inches of rain that fell so far during July is just about half of the average rainfall of 4.37 inches for the month.

Better Off This Year

He said that while the situations are similar, water storage facilities are "a whale of a lot better off this year than last year."

3 Fined For Lake Conduct

SAYLORSBURG —Three men were fined yesterday to charges of disorderly conduct at a hearing before James F. Wilson, Justice of the Peace of Saylorsburg.

The charges stemmed from "unbecoming conduct" at Saylor's Lake. Witold Tilwick, owner of the property, filed the complaint.

Floyd Koehler, Jr., 25, of Saylorsburg was found guilty of disorderly conduct. Delbert S. Houser, 20, of Kunkletown and Ronald W. Smith, 22, of Wind Gap pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct.

Koehler paid $35 fine and cost; Houser paid $42 fine, and cost and Smith paid $39.50 fine and cost. The charge of obstructing an officer in execution of his duties against Houser, was withdrawn by Elwood E. LeBar of the Hamilton Twp. police. Also, the charges of surety of the peace against Smith and Koehler were withdrawn.

Wilson said the charges were wthdrawn on the following condition. "Each had to sign a $500 bond that they will not not go back to the lake as long as Tilwick remins owner of the property.

"If seen at the lake, the bond will automatically be forefited. Each one signed the bonds", he said.

Obituaries

F. J. Beehler Sr. Of Canadensis

CHESTER — Friend J. Beehler Sr., 76, of Canadensis, died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Frisbie, 3134 Bethel Rd., Chester, after a short illness.

Born in Canadensis, he was the son of the late Charles and Emma Rickles Beehler.

He is survived by his wife Margery, at home; four sons, Marvin of Chester, Friend Jr. of Angels, Pa., Charles of Tampa, Fla., and Christopher of Mt. Pocono; three daughters, Mrs. Velva Frisbie of Chester, Mrs. Helen Brittle of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Rhea Emert of Willingboro, N.J.; one sister, Mrs. Nora Miller of Canadensis; 18 grandchildren and five great-grand-children.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday from the Clancy Funeral Home in Chester.

Burial will be in the Philadelphia Memorial Cemetery.

The Viewing will be held Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Clancy Funeral Home.

Crash's Cause Still Mystery

MT. POCONO — Cause of the tragic crash of a small private plane at the Mt. Pocono Airport which killed one and injured three remained a mystery last night.

Investigators from the State Police, Federal Aviation Agency, and the Civil Aeronautics Board were reportedly stumped for an answer as they concluded their on-the-site investigation.

A report on the crash will be issued by the Washington office of the CAB as soon as possible, Arnold Holstine, board investigator, said Tuesday.

Vincent Wreski, airport consultant and crash eye-witness, said yesterday that Carl Roos, 58, one of the injured, was mistaken when he told The Daily Record that the plane had passed over wires just before the crash.

No Obstruction

Wires along Rt. 611 were taken down five years ago, Wreski said, at a cost of "about $35,-n said, at a cost of "about $35,-tween the end of the runway and the place where the plane crashed, he reported.

Wreski also said that the plane had used Runway Five, longest at the airport. "The runway is long enough for almost any plane to get airborne," he said. Wreski estimated speed of the craft at 150 miles per hour at the time of the crash.

He said the crash took place some 3,000 feet from the end of the runway, only about 200 feet from the wreckage of another craft which went down "about 15 or 20 years ago" without injuring the occupants.

Wreski concluded that he was as unable as anyone else to explain the crash.

Monroe County General Hospital reported last night that Mary Elizabeth Gallagher, 18-year-old daughter of the pilot of the downed plane, was still in critical condition with burns over 70 per cent of her body.

Roos, of Wyoming, Pa. and James Gallagher Jr., 48, of Forty Fort remain in fair condition with extensive burns to the arms and legs.

Francis J. Panzarello, of Wilkes - Barre, co-owner with Roos of the aircraft, was trapped in the wreckage and burned to death.

Two Apply For Planning Directorship

SNYDERSVILLE — Donald DeOtte, who spoke for the Monroe County Planning Commission in the absence of chairman John Mills, yesterday told the heads of county agencies that two applicants for county planning director have been received.

He spoke at the regular monthly meeting of the heads at Pleasant Valley Manor.

He said that 13 of the 42 commercial developments in the county have been visited, and that members of the commission attended planning meetings in Carbon and Lehigh - Northampton Counties.

DeOtte also said that members attended a state department of highways meeting and were turned down on a proposed Memorial Highway.

This highway would have rimmed the area as a privately - financed toll road.

Undeveloped Woodland

He added that the commission has been working with subdivision regulations. "Our problem involves undeveloped recreational woodland. Regulations would encourage responsible development of the land," DeOtte said.

He said members have visited four of 11 interchanges on the new major highways in the county — adding that Monroe has more interchanges than any other county in the state.

He said that the immediate need of the county is a large attractive informational plaza near the toll bridge at Delaware Water Gap, which would be open day and night and be equipped wth lighted maps and bulletin boards to advertise resorts and attractions.

He said that after the facts were gathered, the commission will recommend to the county commissioners the completion of the project.

"This will strengthen our position to prohibit signboards along the interchanges — especially when one enters Pennsylvania. The visitor should see beautiful scenery, not billboards," DeOtte said.

E-burg Meeting Reset Tonight

EAST STROUDSBURG — A meeting will be held tonight at 7.30 by the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Committee and building authority to discuss a proposed bond issue to finance repairs to the old North Courtland Street elementary.

A meeting scheduled for last night was postponed. A special meeting of the joint school committee will be held immediately following the combined meeting.

Report Slated Soon

SNYDERSVILLE — LeRoy Dengler, chairman of the Mt. Pocono Airport Authority, said he was notified that the Federal Aviation Agency made "a comprehensive investigation" into the plane accident that killed one at the Pocono Mountains Airport Monday.

Francis J. Panzarello of Wilkes - Barre was killed Monday night when the light plane in which he was a passenger crashed shortly after takeoff from Mt. Pocono.

Three others were injured.

Dengler said that the FAA has indicated it will issue a report on the crash soon. He spoke before a meeting of county agency heads at Pleasant Valley Manor yesterday.

Dengler also said that William Shannon, Jr., owner of Skylane Aviation, has inquired about charter service to and from Mt. Pocono. He was told that his request would be considered favorably, but would be non-exclusive. Also, a 10 per cent commission on gross income would be required by the authority.

He said that during July — up to July 27 — about 2,600 gallons of gas were sold, as well as 19 quarts of oil and $37.50 worth of tie-down fees. Two hundred and ten planes were involved in 574 movements and 1,853 people enplaned and deplaned.

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor, also spoke and called for a system whereby land developers would be requested to record deeds after lots were sold. He said that since the tax assessment books came out for this year, $700,000 in additional assessment was added, and $400,000 was exonerated.

Elmer Woodling, inspector of construction at the new Pleasant Valley Manor building, said the workmen are about two weeks behind schedule, but this is due to materials shortage, and should be corrected soon.

Commissioner Stuart Pipher called for all row office heads, and all department, committee, and organizational heads to attend the Pleasant Valley Manor monthly meetings on the last Wednesday of each month.

Pipher said that attendance has been slack.

SCHEDULED FOR REMOVAL — Markers designating the graves of some of the first Catholics in the Stroudsburg area are in a section that may become part of the S. Courtland St. urban renewal project. The cemetery is located between S. Courtland and S. Crystal streets in East Stroudsburg and has tombstones dating back to the Civil War.

Moving Of Cemetery Needs Federal Okay

EAST STROUDSBURG—Land occupied by an old cemetery and church building in East Stroudsburg, both steeped in Roman Catholic lore, may become part of the S. Courtland St. urban renewal project.

King Beers, executive director of the Redevelopment Authority of Monroe County, said the Scranton Diocese has approved the relocation of the Old St. Matthew's Cemetery, located between S. Courtland and S. Crystal Streets.

Beers said if the plan is approved by the federal government, remains in the cemetery will be moved to the Gates of Heaven Section of Laurelwood Cemetery, Stroudsburg.

A building now used as a home on S. Crystal St. and which housed the first Catholic Church in the Stroudsburg area, will also be included in the plan to acquire new land for the project, according to Beers.

The cemetery, which dates back to the Civil War, and the old church building, built in 1868, were an integral part of a Catholic life in this section of the county.

Mostly Irish Workers

Tombstones in the cemetery bear dates from 1865 to 1915. Most of the people buried in the two-acre plot were Irish railroad workers, who came to East Stroudsburg to work for the Lackawanna Railroad.

There are about 100 tombstones in the cemetery, but Catholic historians believe many persons are buried in the plot who did not have grave markers.

Beers said if the cost of relocating the cemetery is approved by the government St. Matthew's Parish will assume the responsibility of moving graves, some of which are 100 years old.

He said in an endeavor such as this, every effort is made to remove even the slightest trace of a grave to a new sight.

Most of the grave sites in the cemetery are well-kept and a few even have fresh flowers at the base of tombstones.

Beers said if government approval is obtained the authority will ask the state Highway Dept. to remove rock from the base of Ridgeway St. and straighten the street out, thus eliminating a bad traffic condition near the bridge.

To Be Used As Fill

He said the rock blasted out would be used for fill in other parts of the project.

The executive director said if the amended plan is successful it will take the S. Courtland St. project down as for as the corner of S. Courtland and Brown Streets.

Tocks Impact Study Started

PHILADELPHIA — A study to determine the economic impact of the Tocks Island dam, reservoir and proposed National Recreation Area on the five-county, three-state Tocks Island region has been started by Robert Nathan Associates, a Washington, D. C. economics consulting firm. The Pennsylvania State Planning Board contracted for the survey.

The study, to last about one year, is expected to be jointly financed by planning agencies of the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York with assistance from the Housing and Home Finance Agency of the United States.

Malcalm D. Rivkin, in charge of the study for Nathan Associates, said the study will be done in three parts.

Part one, to be completed about November of this year, will be of a background nature. It will involve reviews of, among other things: the national recreation area proposal; economic activity in the Tocks Island region; population trends for the area that the national recreation area will serve; and the impacts of other large recreation areas in various parts of the United States.

Part two, to be completed about February, 1965, will deal with the specific economic impact of the Tocks Island project. It will, for example, estimate the volume and types of economic activity that are likely to be generated by the Tocks Island project and also the effects the project will have on the population and labor force. This part of the study will also analyze the effect of the project on local ratables and existing land use and zoning patterns, and will determine estimated needs for local public services and facilities.

Part three, to be completed about May, 1965, will outline suggested action programs that the states, counties and municipalities might follow to obtain maximum economic benefits from the project.

LCB Suspends E-Burg Tavern

HARRISBURG — State Liquor Control Board suspended the license of the Half Moon Bar in East Stroudsburg for 15 days effective Aug. 19. Reason given by the board for suspension of the license of Peter S. Miller Jr. was the "operation of a lottery on licensed premises."

The name Idaho comes from the Shoshone Indian greeting, "We-dah-how," which means "Look, the sun is coming down the mountains." It was a greeting for morning.

Early Chinese writing was done on silk fabrics and flat pieces of bamboo.

ESSC Grad Gets Easton Principalship

WIND GAP — An elementary principal at Wind Gap for the past six years, Russell H. Roper, 28, of Wind Gap was elected principal of Easton's March School this week by a 16 to 1 vote of the Easton Area Joint School Committee. He will receive $7,500 at March School.

Roper succeeds John J. Curley, who has become principal of the Shull Junior High School.

A graduate of East Stroudsburg State College in 1958, Roper holds a master of education degree from Lehigh University. He is a past president of the Northampton County branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn. for the fourth class district. He is married to the former Jean Smickley of Wind Gap. They have three children.

He was recommended for the March position by a committee headed by John S. Cole, who reported that candidates from the Easton area system and from outside the system were interviewed by John T. Auld, new superintendent of elementary education.

Voiced Opposition

Mrs. Peter J. Collins of Easton, who voted against the appointment, said that she believed a man now in the local system could have been tapped for the principalship.

"Promotion within the ranks is the greatest form of merit (system) we could have," she said.

William A. Connor, an Easton director who is not on the joint committee and thus could not vote, said he opposed "going outside the area" to fill the position when qualified applicants are available in the system.

Experience Is Factor

Auld said that a major factor in the choice of Roper was his experience as an elementary principal.

At Inn At Buck Hill

Rare-Type Artist Unveils Work

BUCK HILL FALLS — Maud Trisman, artist in the new American school termed assemblage, is holding her first public showing at the Inn, Buck Hill Falls.

Miss Trismen took up the technique, derived from the college, about four year ago. Her paintings consist of objects glued upon a base board, with the supplementary use of paint.

Shown In Europe

She reports that the technique has been shown frequently in Europe, but is entirely American in origin. Originating in New York and Florida, the new style has spread to other parts of the country, she said.

Miss Trismen is one of the few exponents of assemblage to utilize paint as well, according to Atillio Banca, her agent, and curator of the Andre Smith Memorial Museum of Maitland, Fla.

Banca said the young artist, "was born a painter." Miss Trisman grew up in Florida, and graduated from Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

Special Studies

She has pursued special studies at Swarthmore College, music at Oberlin College, and taken sculpture from Frances Perrotet.

Miss Trismen, who spends the summer at Buck Hill Falls, was named curator of Living Arts for Rollins College in 1954, and was selected for the Board of Directors of the Loch Haven Art Center in Orlando, Fla., in 1962.

"Looking At Everything"

She has traveled extensively in Europe.

"Looking at everything," is her prescription for success as an artist. She said her favorite paintings are those of Salvador Dali on religious subjects. She is especially fond of his "Last Supper" now at the National Art Gallery in Washington, D.C.

Banca said he hopes to arrange a show by Miss Trismen at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in the near future.

Negro Family Lauds Gap's Kindness

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A Negro family who lived on the Heights in Delaware Water Gap recently wrote a letter thanking people of the borough for their kindness during the two years they lived there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, who have three children, wrote:

"We wish to thank you from the bottom of our hearts, the people of Delaware Water Gap, for the kindness and friendliness toward us while we resided there.

"It is hard to believe that in a country torn by hate and prejudice, you can find a town where people understand and practice the true meaning of friendship, kindness and christianity.

"Thank you again for letting us enjoy your wonderful little town and may God bless you all."

Campbell worked at the Ronson plant in Delaware Water Gap. He and his family moved to West Chester this spring.

Mau Mau Estates

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)— Kenya's ex-Mau Mau terrorists are to get back the land confiscated from them under British colonial rule during the eight years of their antiwhite activity, the government announced. Seven hundred ex-Mau Maus already have made land claims.

Army Payment Errors Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bad administration of the Army allotment system is costing the government about $2 million a year in erroneous payments, a congressional agency reported Tuesday.

The General Accounting Office said at least $340,000 of this amount is never recovered from servicemen who get the erroneous payments.

The report said the most common error is the failure to make proper deductions from the servicemen's pay for the allotments they have requested to be paid.

The GAO said the mistakes occur primarily because Army personnel and finance workers are not properly trained, do not remain on the job long enough to learn it properly, have to perform other military duties and "do not exercise the proper degree of care in their work."

Johnson Threat Leads To Arrest

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Secret Service agents arrested Arthur Doyall Goodrum, 18, of Cleveland, Tex., Monday on a charge of threatening the life of President Johnson.

Lane Bertram, Secret Service agent, said the unemployed man was apprehended at his mother's home in Cleveland.

Goodrum was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Ralph Fowler in Houston. He was ordered held in a Houston jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The threat on Johnson's life came during a conversation with an unidentified city council man in Conroe, Tex., April 7, Bertram said.

Two area servicemen are in the news:

David Dailey

Army PFC David M. Dailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey O. Dailey of 67 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, and other members of the 16th Signal Battalion, took part in Exercise Short Circuit, a week long field training exercise held in Germany, which ended July 22.

Dailey underwent extensive training in tactical maneuvers and support exercises, with special emphasis on maintaining communications during the exercise.

The 18-year-old soldier, a radio relay and carrier operator in the battalion's Company B regularly stationed near Butzbach, entered the Army in October 1962. He completed basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga., and arrived overseas in March 1963.

Randall Brown

Marine PFC Randall E. Brown son of Earl Brown of Marshalls Creek and Mrs. Shirley Knecht of Hidden Lake Rd., East Stroudsburg, is home on a 30 day leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Brown is stationed with a Radio Relay Platoon serving with the First Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force.

District 8 Vets Install Graves

WILKES-BARRE — Forrest Graves of 1004 Main St., Stroudsburg, director of the Stroudsburg office of the state Bureau of Sales and Use Tax, yesterday was installed as commander of District 8, Veterans of World War I.

Graves officially took office along with nine other district commanders at the final session of the annual convention held in Wilkes-Barre.

The district Graves heads comprises nine northeastern Pennsylvania counties.

The convention was attended by 798 delegates; 39 barracks commanders; 10 department officers and 10 district commanders.

Pennsylvania Employment Up

HARRISBURG (AP) — Total employment in Pennsylvania rose by 55,300 jobs from mid-May to mid-June, the State Labor and Industry Department reported Tuesday.

Employment totaled 4,384,300, the highest point for the period since June, 1960, the department said.

William P. Young, secretary of labor and industry, said that factory employment, which usually shows little change for that time of year, registered a significant gain.

The employment figure was 31,900 higher than June of last year, according to the department's statistics.

Within a given year, almost 20 per cent of U. S. citizens change address.

$8,000-Plus Sought For Injuries

STROUDSBURG — A four-count law suit seeking in excess of $8,000 for injuries stemming from a 1961 auto accident was filed in Monroe County Court yesterday by a New Woodhaven, N.Y. family against Theodore Williams, of 19 N. Second St., Stroudsburg.

The suit was filed by Atty. Edwin Krawitz in behalf of Raymond and Mary Smith and the couple's two minor children, Paul and Janet. The complaint seeks in excess of $2,000 but less than $5,000 for each of plaintiffs.

It is alleged that a car operated by Williams struck the rear of one owned and operated by Raymond Smith, Aug. 2, 1961, on Rt. 209, four miles east of East Stroudsburg.

It is charged that Williams operated his car in a reckless, careless and negligent manner and that the Smith family was thrown violently around the interior of the car as a result of the crash.

The suit specifically charges Williams with failing to keep a safe distance behind the Smith car and for traveling too fast under the circumstances.

Hospitalized Dozen Now Only Five

REEDER — Seven out of 12 people who were admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County with food poisoning following a recent wedding reception at a private home near Reeders last week, have been released.

Charles Swisher, assistant director at the hospital, said yesterday that all the patients concerned with the illness have been responding very readily and favorably to antibiotic treatment. The case is "under control" he said.

"There have been no new cases reported," he added.

All the patients "are coming along nicely." Nothing dangerous from a laboratory standpoint has been found in the tests made, he said.

An official at the Pennsylvania Department of Health said the results of the food and water sent to a state laboratory in Philadelphia last week have not yet been reported.

Denison To Speak To GOP Ladies

EAST STROUDSBURG — Would you like to meet and talk to Mason Denison, popular Daily Record columnist and veteran Harrisburg reporter?

The Monroe Council of Republican Women will make that possible for you Wednesday, Aug. 12, when Denison will speak at a council picnic at the East Stroudsburg Borough Playground at 8 p.m.

His speech is open to the public.

Denison, editor of the Pennsylvania News Service, is an independent columnist syndicated in 40 Pennsylvania newspapers. He has been reporting Harrisburg news for 25 years.

Cherry Lane Played To SRO

TANNERSVILLE — Rea Hooker, producer at Cherry Lane Playhouse, said yesterday that the summer stock musical comedy theater played to standing room only crowd last Saturday.

Some 260 persons saw "My Fair Lady," current production at the theater in a converted Amish barn which normally seats 240. Hooker said that about 60 people were turned away.

He also reported that Herb Surface, the show's director, who appeared with the original Broadway production of "My Fair Lady" will remain at the Cherry Lane for the rest of the season.

Sam Carter and Barbara Cole stars of the current production, were guests on a Scranton television show Tuesday, Hooker added.

Scranton On Two Committees

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)— Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania has been named to two committees of the National Governors' Conference organization.

Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada chairman of the conference, appointed Scranton to the advisory committee to the executive committee on the National Guard. He also named the Pennsylvania chief executive to the election laws and communications media operations committee.

Just Between Us — —

Thoughts while waiting for the heat to break:

While the shade trees for Main St. — and Crystal, too — advocated in yesterday's editorial would make it more bearable for pedestrians in town, there's not much you can do to make the new super - highways more comfortable for motorists. They're too wide for shade trees to cast their healing shadows across the concrete, shimmering with heat

But what a difference when you turn off into the by-ways where trees meet overhead and a damp coolness is as refreshing as a drink of cold well water

A lawn reception after a wedding also has a cool sound, but it takes plenty of faith on the part of the principals not to break down under the strain of wondering just how they'll manage if 165 people have to crowd into the house in case of rain.

The Tannersville Cub Scout's Heritage Campfire sounded impressive if not exactly cooling, and there was nothing symbolic, just sensible, in cooking hot dogs in the embers.

However, the most cooling thing I do is sit and watch the loon who is still around and still performing. Yesterday morning he was flying, or flapping up and down the river. He flies with his elbows bent, which not only looks awkward but gives the effect of being very, very busy without getting ahywhere. You know, the more I watch that bird, the more I feel we're related.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Robert Rehm

Lawn Reception Follows Rehm-Manhart Wedding

Stroudsburg—Miss Lois Elaine Manhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin H. Manhart, Sr., of Stroudsburg, RD 3, and Franklin Robert Rehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin B. Rehm, of Stroudsburg, RD 5, were married on June 27 at 2 p. m. in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

Rev. William F. Wunder performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of pompons and gladiolas. Miss Leila Bunnell was organist. Mrs. Albert Yutz sang "Because," "O Promise Me," "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza trimmed with Chantilly lace with a scalloped neckline, long sleeves coming to a point over the fingers and a full skirt appliqued with lace. The Watteau train of lace fell from her shoulders. A double tier crown trimmed in lace, pearls and crystal held her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons, ivy and baby's breath with a center of pink carnations in the shape of a cross.

Miss Judy Lee, of Stroudsburg, RD 3, as maid of honor, wore a street length gown of pink chiffon over taffeta with an overskirt of chiffon and matching headpiece. She carried a cascade of pink and white daisies and pompons.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Patricia Davies, Mrs. Alice Manhart, Miss Gwen Hahn and Miss Renee Stout wore similar gowns in nile green. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow daisies, pompons, ivy and baby's breath.

Richard Rehm, of Stroudsburg, RD 5, served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Gerald Shoemaker, Robert Shiffer, Richard Peet and Melvin H. Manhart, Jr.

A lawn reception for about 160 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents in Reeders.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Wisconsin, Michigan and Canada, the bride wore a blue sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

They are both graduates of Stroud Union High School. The bride is employed by James T. Kitson of the law firm of Shull and Kitson. Her husband is employed as an apprentice at Hughes Printing Co.

4-H Barbecue, Square Dance At Blue Valley

Bangor — The Northampton 4-H County Council is sponsoring the Third Annual Chicken Bar-B-Que and Square Dance on Saturday, August 1, at the Blue Valley Fairgrounds. This affair will begin on Saturday afternoon when the first chickens are placed over the charcoal at 3:45 p.m. The serving will begin at 5 p.m.

The chickens will be covered with this sauce: 1 pt. vinegar, ½ pt. water, ½ lb. butter 1 oz. salt — and turned every 3 or 4 minutes. It takes at least 1 hour of barbecuing, basting, and turning to serve this mouth - watering chicken dinner.

Besides the 1½ pounds of chicken, each person will be served baked beans, a roll, pickeled cabbage, and a beverage.

Everyone served a chicken dinner is then ready at 8:30 p.m. to "burn off" his calorie intake by swinging his partner at the square dance. The dance is also open to the public.

The proceeds from this event will be used to further the 4-H program and the 4-H Center in Northampton County.

Last year over 600 people attended the Second Annual Bar-B-Que and Square Dance.

Clair Whitemore's musical group, from Bartonsville, will furnish the music for the Square Dance.

Marinate sliced cucumbers and serve on salad greens with a garnish of pimiento, capers and anchovies.

Heritage Campfire Enlists 13

Tannersville — At a special American Heritage Campfire, the Cub Scouts of Pack 85, Boy Scouts of America announced that 13 of its members will compete in the Nathan Hale award program of the Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge. The pack is sponsored by the Tannersville Fire Co.

Boys who will compete are Joseph Derrick, Gregory Wallingford, Randy Kresge, David Cramer, Gregory Peechatka, Russell Horn, Ricky Rasley, Mark Wallingford, Robert Wallingford, Barry London, Douglas Learn, Mark Robbins and Donald Robbins.

Each boy will submit a statement of 25 to 100 words on "Why I love America." The entries will be judged by the Foundations Independent Awards Jury. To the top winner in the 12 Boy Scout regions there will be an honor citation and a George Washington Honor Medal. To the top winner in each of the 528 participating local councils, there will be George Washington Honor Medals. In addition one or more citations of merit will be presented in all units taking part in the competition.

The Nathan Hale awards program has been specially designed for the Boy Scouts of America for the purpose of making the boys, in Scouting and the people in their communities more aware of the country's heritage.

At the Heritage Campfire, four boys were awarded the Scout - A - Rama patch and slide for selling tickets for the Scout - A - Rama program: Donald Robbins, Mark Robbins, Lindsey Price and Joseph Derrick.

After the meeting, the embers of the campfire were used for a hot dog roast.

Roth-Gregory Wedding At Salem Church, Gilbert

Gilbert — Miss Jean Clara Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ethan R. Gregory of Gilbert, was married on July 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Salem United Church of Christ, to Gerald F. Roth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Roth of Nazareth RD 2.

Rev. Carl Siegfrid, Jr., and Rev. Carl Adams performed the ceremony with Mrs. Ray Souillard as organist and Miss Carlotta Scholl as soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Diane Borger of Kresgeville as maid of honor, Miss Norma Lohman of Bangor as bridesmaid and Miss Debra Gregory, niece of the bride of Clay, as junior bridesmaid. The Misses Jane and Martha Gregory, nieces of the bride, of Clay, were flower girls.

The maid of honor and bridemaid wore street-length dresses in blue, the junior bridesmaid and flower girls street length dresses of pink.

Richard Kibler of Albrightsville was best man. Ushers were Robert Gregory of Clay, brother of the bride, and Bruce Roth of Nazareth, RD 2, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception was held at the church social hall following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Polk Twp High School, Kresgeville, and the Stroudsburg School of Cosmetology and is now a student in the Allentown School of Practical Nursing. She is a member of the Salem Church, its choir and youth fellowship.

Mr. Roth was graduated from Nazareth High School and Churchman's Business College. He was employed at Nazareth Mutual Ins. Co., before entering the service. He is a private in the U. S. Army taking teletyping. He was active in the 4-H Club and in the Salem Lutheran Church and its choir and Luther League.

After a honeymoon in the Poconos and in New Jersey, Pvt. Roth has returned to Fort Gordon, Ga., and Mrs. Roth is making her home with her parents.

Lords Valley Ladies Assn. Schedule Set

Lords Valley — A new schedule for Ladies Day at Lords Valley Country Club was set up at the second meeting of the new Women's Assn. It will take effect at the next meeting on Aug. 6.

Mrs. C. D. Shull presided at the meeting when, after discussion, the following schedule was worked out: golf, 10 a.m. sharp; putting contest, 11 a.m.; luncheon 1 p.m. to be followed by bridge and other card games. Sailing and riding may be scheduled any time before the 1 p.m. luncheon. Mary Paul Markham recorded the minutes of the meeting.

Golf prizes were awarded:

Low gross, Jean DeFazio, low net, Mitzie Koelmel and Sig Butler, low putts, Jinny Scammel; putting contest, Helen Green.

Fire Co. Aux. Seeks Goods From Township

Stroud Township — Stroud Township residents will be given a chance to help the auxiliary and the firemen of the township this month by contributing homebaked goods to be sold at the carnival.

Ladies of the auxiliary will "man" a refreshment booth where all kinds of homebaked products will be on sale. Any contributions will be appreciated. Donations may be brought to the carnival grounds or pick-up may be arranged by contacting auxiliary members or the president, Mrs. Ray Silver. Special nights have been set aside for contributions from different sections of the township. On Monday night August 3, donations are needed from all areas. Tuesday night, August 4 is for West Main Street, Tanite Road, R.D. 2, R.D. 5, and Southern Stroud; Wednesday, August 5, will have donors from Arlington Heights, and the Lackawanna Trail section. On Thursday night, August 6, Northern Stroud, Analomink, and Brushy Mountain bakers will contribute. Friday night, August 7, the baked goods will be from persons in the Mt. Zion, Chipperfield and Twin Hill areas. Saturday night, August 8, will be Fifth Street night.

A small frying chicken may be dredged with a quarter cup of seasoned flour, but for a large chicken, you'll need one-third to one-half cup.

New Dealers List Treasures For 20th Antique Show Here

East Stroudsburg — With a week to go before the 20th anniversary Pocono Mountains Antique Show and Sale, opens Thursday, Aug. 6, at the gymnasium of East Stroudsburg State College, Sally Ferrebee, show director, has been rounding up some "prevue peaks" at some of the unusual treasures.

Among the new dealers this year are Bets and Bob Goodall of Fort Washington, N.J., who will be bringing an enormous wooden salad bowl, unusual bisque items including a boy in baseball uniform and a shoe with a cat chasing a mouse in the toe.

Ethel Eckardt, of Brooklyn, better known to residents as the wife of Dr. Harry Meyer of Devil's Hole Road, will show a pair of outdoor lamps taken from an old mansion. Frank Smith, East Stroudsburg will have several small pieces of furniture including diminutive chests of drawers and a walnut rocking chair as well as a Red Prussian dish and demitasse cups.

Kay Baker of Endicott, N.Y., features hand - painted lamp shades and base as well as silver. Ester Weisman and her mother, Fanny Dinner, will display antique jewlery. The Camerons of Bridgeton, N.H., and the Greens of Pottstown will have booths for coin collectors as well as a variety of fine glass and china.

The women of the General Hospital Aux. will serve snacks, bunches and dinners in a garden setting in the lobby of the gymnasium, during show hours; Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Art Display Opens At Barrett Library

Mountainhome — Miss Eda Brentini, Barrett Township artist yesterday opened a display of oil paintings at the Barrett Friendly Library.

The display is one of a number to be featured at the library during the summer months in an effort to combine reading and art appreciation sponsored by the library board of directors.

The display which will be open until next week during library hours includes landscapes and still life subjects.

Library hours are Tuesday through Friday 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Saturday 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. John Roberts, librarian said yesterday that the library will be open Wednesday nights between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. by popular request.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Something that arrived in our store the other day opened a doorway to the past, and in a sudden flash I saw once again a possession I had prized greatly as a child. It was a fan of white celluloid (we didn't have "plastic" then!) made of tiny propellor blades, attached to a handle through which ran a metal mechanism ending in a movable button. When one pressed the button, the folded blades would begin to whir noisily, stirring up a cooling breeze. It was, in its day, quite a gadget.

I had forgotten about it ages ago . . . until Pete Wyckoff asked me if I had seen the new electric fans in our Notions Department. These run on a tiny battery, concealed within a metal cylinder, attached to which is a plastic head with a blade of plastic folded down at either side. When one presses a small button set into the cylinder, the blades fly up and begin whirling around at a mad rate. It's amazing how much air is set in motion, and how refreshing it is on a humid day.

If you are a person who can't endure summer . . . who feels confined in any closed room, or whenever you are in a crowd . . . if you are one of those perpetual fan users who spend more energy, and work up more heat, batting the air with a hand operated fan . . . you should definitely invest in one of these. Such a fan would also be a fine traveling companion, to be used on bus, train, subway, or in your own car; in motel, hotel, church or theatre. It is practically noiseless, and when the button is set in an "on" position, the fan will run indefinitely without attention. The price, complete with battery, is 1.98.

At the same price, we also sell an excellent combination flashlight and red signal light that flashes a warning or a call for assistance. This should certainly be included in one's car-go, don't you think? It might even be practical around the home

You know, just this minute it occurred to me that we haven't a single flashlight in our home. If the power lines went down tonight, we'd have to depend upon a few candles . . . and in this heat!

* * *

What's new," I asked Bob Igler of our Frigidaire Department, and first he pointed to his trim waistline, considerably slimmed since ill health necessitated a diet. "I look better," Bob mourned, "but I'm always hungry."

Then, after receiving our combined congratulations and sympathy, he proceeded to show me the really terrific Jet Action Automatic Washer which is Frigidaire's latest, perhaps proudest, achievement. It is a beautiful machine, as are all things Frigidaire. Men will appreciate the fact that it has no gear box, no belt, and no pulleys in its makeup . . . so there are less things that can go wrong with this new washer. What's more, it has a newly styled agitator, which means that the clothes will never, never tangle. "This washer is perfection itself," Bob assures me . . . and he would enjoy the opportunity of showing its wonders to you.

The price is 188.00 and there's a choice of White, Mayfair Pink, Aztec Copper, Sunny Yellow, or Turquoise.

* * *

For those of you who enjoy doing good, here is another opportunity. Here at Wyckoff's we have had an appeal for a high chair. It is very badly needed and would surely be much appreciated. Many of you have been so kind in the past, assisting those who have come to Mr. Wyckoff for help, he has asked me to refer this latest request to you. If you can provide a used high chair in good condition, would you contact us? We would be most grateful, and so would the family for whom we ask.

'Gypsy' Flirts, Strips Raves At Newfoundland Threatre

By Peggy Bancroft
Record Correspondent

NEWFOUNDLAND — An entranced audience watched Mama Rose build a dream out of a shaky talent, a driving ambition, and a lonely heart, Tuesday night as "Gypsy" — the story of Gypsy Rose Lee, opened at the Newfoundland Musical Theatre to a standing room only audience Monday night.

In "Gypsy" Joan Kobin topped already impressive performances in "Guys and Dolls," and "Pajama Game." She took the exaggeration that is Mama Rose and made her entirely believable, building a dream on a blonde wig, a few sleazy costumes, and a wagon firmly bolted to the nearest star.

Miss Kobin was flippant, flirtatious, brazen, gay, hearty, witty, ruthless, vivacious, and heartbroken, and carried the audience with her all the way. She played the part, not as a copy of Ethel Merman, but in a more sympathetic style.

Rose has eleven numbers in "Gypsy." Her emotions run from the heights of gaiety to the depths of despair — and her musical numbers are demanding ones.

Miss Kobin, who says, "I want to play Gypsy for the rest of my life," came to the role via opera, where she has done all of the soprano leads from Mozart through Verdi to Puccini.

Deciding that opera was not for her, since acting, — one of her real loves — is "completely lacking" in opera, and opportunities are few, she studied mime — and found her place in the world of show business. Possessed of tremendous "comic ability," she began working in stock five years a go, and has played some twenty top roles.

Teri Phillips — the "Sarah Brown" of "Guys and Dolls," played "Louise" who becomes the greatest stripper of them all, "Gypsy Rose Lee." She went from a convincing, awkward tomboy to a reluctant second to her star - bound sister, June (played by Mary Jane Conte), to the rear end of a cow, to the sparkling — but always a lady — Gypsy Rose Lee. The two "children's" song, "If Mama Was Married," was extremely well done.

A high point of the show was "You Gotta Have A Gimmick," with strippers Mazeppa (Renata Funghini, complete with trumpet and a terrific 'bump'); Electra, (Doris Hale, sporting her own electrical power-plus); and Tessie Tura (Tina Marie, whose gimmick - ballet - was hardly necessary to gain attention), raising the already torrid temperature 20 degrees!

Shelley Burne, as Baby June, and Debbie Chapman as Baby Louise, glowed as the child stars.

John Apicella went his usual merry way as "Tulsa," 7¼ and his "All I Need Is the Girl" was a song - and - dance masterpiece of combined comedy and day-dreaming.

Ken Gallo, as "Herbie," the calm-and-convenient, steadying influence in the whole unsteady life of the world of grease paint and uncertain futures, was excellent in his role of the man who walked into- and out of- Rose's life.

A definite star in the show was the cow — a loosely-put-together but fascinating creature of undistinguished parts, (with one exception).

Much of the evening's enjoyment — for "Gypsy" was an unqualified success and a high point in the repertoire of the Newfoundland Musical Theatre — can be credited not only to the outstanding interpretations of the cast — but also to Bette Kaelin's costumes and sets. Her use of color, materials, and ingenuity gave mighty strong underpinnings to a fascintaing show where costumes ran from cover-up blankets to next-to-nothing.

Douglas Finny and Richard Samuels at the twin pianos, and James Erwin on drums, were excellent Erwin's "train" was quite a trick.

Producer Anthony Carone, who has found his theatre's reception in Newfoundland "quite beyond our fondest dreams," can rest on his laurels with "Gypsy" safely and sparklingly launched for a two-week stand.

N'fld Awaits Arrival Of 'New Student'

NEWFOUNDLAND — The Rotary Club's second exchange student, Kerry Patricia Monaghan, will arrive in Newfoundland in mid-August from her home in Essenden, Victoria, Australia.

Kerry, who will be sixteen in September, leaves by plane for America with several other exchange students on August 15.

The new exchange is one of four children. She reports that her two sisters, Gail and Robyn, are "unlike me, while I am bigger, 5' 5½" tall, and eight stone in weight."

Kerry has received several letters from Rotarians and committee members, as well as pictures and brochures to show her what kind of country she will be calling home for the next year.

Members of the committee planning for her visit here are Willis Gilpin, chairman; Dr. Harold Gilbert, Dr. Frank Uridel, Clayton Northup and Peggy Bancroft.

The first host home will be that of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amadi, of Paupack.

Roseto Group Nominates New Pastor

ROSETO — An Ohio clergyman has been nominated to serve as pastor of the Roseto Presbyterian Church. The action was taken at a special congregational meeting in the church on Sunday.

John Cistone, chairman of the pulpit committee, nominated Rev. Charles Parsons, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Laryville, Ohio. The congregation unanimously agreed to extend the call to the Rev. Parsons.

Rev. Gorman Roof, Lehigh Presbytery executive, of Snydersville served as moderator.

Cistone and Mrs. Mary S. Schiavone were delegated to make the call.

The Rev. Mr. Parson occupied the pulpit at Roseto Presbyterian several weeks ago.

After the meeting, Rev. Roof conducted the sacrament of Holy Communion at the worship service.

Elders assisting were Cistone, Michael R. Falcone, Michael Policelli, Carmelo Giardinere, Mrs. Dora Rosato and Mrs. Louise Strippone.

Mrs. Anna Rose Drago and Mrs. Dorothy Campanaro sang a duet accompanied by Mrs. Marie Policelli.

Special ushers were Anthony Campanaro, Neil Cataline, Nicholas Sabatine and William Phillips.

Mayor Kistler Cites Progress In Borough

State Of East Stroudsburg Report

Thomas L. Kistler
Mayor Of East Stroudsburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — It has been some time since a report has been made to the citizens of East troudsburg, and since so many things are under way at present, I think you should know what is being done for our community right now.

A contract for the water filtration plant was awarded to Vanguard Construction Co., and they are now working on the excavation and foundation for the filtration plant.

The entire cost will total $793,000, of which the Federal Government will contribute $360,000.

The boro has issued bonds in the amount of $435,000 against the water system, and they have all been sold. Our credit is excellent.

Better Water Pressure

Upon completion of this project the water pressure will be better at the higher elevations and the quality of the water will be improved considerably.

Negotiations are under way with the Catholic Church to move the old cemetery on South Courtland Street to the Prospect Cemetery. When and if this is accomplished the rock will be removed at Brown and So. Courtland St. to permit the widening and also straighten Bridge treet from the Railroad bridge to So. Courtland treet.

This will tie the So. Courtland St. project right into the Lincoln Ave. re-development program and provide a continuous commercial area from Lincoln Ave. to Washington St. at Crystal.

A number of business concerns are presently interested in locations in this commercial area.

Negotiations are now being made with property owners in the Courtland St. project. We hope to have new construction under way by fall. Our town will soon have a new look.

To Probe Parking

The Municipal Authority has been requested to look into parking conditions around the station and make some recommendations for present and future needs. Our present business area leaves much to be desired and the Planning Board has requested their consultants to check into this problem and make some suggestions for their consideration, to improve this area of our town.

New school and college buildings now being built or soon to be constructed will amount to several million dollars. While this does not directly increase our tax base, it will make it possible to furnish higher education for many of our young folks at a cost many can afford. This may mean more to our welfare than the dollars collected by taxes. These schools do pay large sums for water and sewage services.

Council is now looking ahead and making plans for more water storage and will no doubt take some definite action in the very near future.

The continuous increase in water consumption makes it imperative to provide this extra storage capacity. Thousands of gallons of water could be conserved if every one would use it wisely and not waste it.

To Be Resurfaced

The following streets are scheduled for resurfacing treatment, either by the State Highway Dept. or the boro: King St., Prospect St., No. Green St., Lackawanna Ave., and one or two others, if available funds permit.

No one can accuse our officers, Council, Planning Commission and Authority of doing nothing for our town. For years we have heard it said "Nothing happens in East Stroudsburg." Well, it is happening now and we hope every last resident will be proud to be a part of this development taking place here in our town.

New Play With Old Lines Termed 'Late-Moverish'

By JEFF COX
Daily Record Reporter

MOUNTAINHOME—"I'll have a coke and scotch."

"Coke and scotch? What do you call that?"

"You've heard of a screwdriver? Well, that's a roto-rooter."

And those are about the funniest lines in "Thursday Is a Good Night," playing this week at the Pocono Playhouse.

"Thursday" is a new play by Abe Einhorn and Donald Segall, but it's in the old style of comedy. If you are of the old school, the gags are sure to keep you laughing.

There's something late-movieish abbout the show. The plot involves stolen plans, spies, a bookmaker to which everything unfortuitous happens, and a beautiful female reporter posing as a call girl.

Given these circumstances, Abe and Donald have created a fast-pace romp. But the romp has been done before. A thousand times.

If the plot is bland oatmeal, then the gags are sweet raisins. There are plenty of them, and they.re funny. Delivered by the expert cast, they carry the show.

The cast salvages the whole thing. Tom Ewell is Bennie the Booky — he's superb. Sheree North is supposed to be a looker, and . . . wow. She can also act, which is surprising in a girl of her physical endowments. Most beautiful girls don't bother to learn.

There wasn't one member of the cast that wasn't more than adequate. Together, the professionals welded a rather tired, but still funny, show into something more than itself.

John Svar acted exactly like every snippy bell-boy we've ever run into. Joseph Bova was a true Damon Runyan character. Andre Pascal and John Garson were two of the most convincing Russians we've ever seen on the stage or screen.

Anna Minot played the Jewish lady next door. She didn't overdo it. Jay Barney, Robert Chambers, Richard Khan and Bill Berrian were all excellent.

Bela and Gabriel

A special kudo must go to a transplanted Shakespearean, Abe Vigoda, who played Gideon Black. If the stage ever supported a more hilarious composite caricature of Bela Lugosi and Gabriel Heatter, we've yet to see it. Albert Wolsky's costume fitted the mood.

The castoing for this show was near-perfection.

Jack Bates again came up with the exact setting. This man should open an interior design salon in New York.

Judith Abbott — George Abbott's daughter — directed. She might quicken the dialogue a little more. And get rid of that awful line when Sheree takes her final leave: "Just remember me as 'The Broad.'"

This cast worked so well together they should think of starting a repertory company. They might even include "Thursday Is a Good Night" in the repertoire if Abe and Donald can find some new and subtle way of making people laugh.

Fire Damages At Resort Estimated $5,000 By Chief

BUSHKILL — Damage estimated at $5,000 was reported yesterday by Lawrence H. Dickison, Bushkill Twp. fire chief in Monday's fire at Friedman's Country Villa resort in Bushkill.

Defective wiring was the probable cause of the fire, Dickison said.

Firemen tought the blaze for nearly four hours. No one was reportedly injured in the fire.

Fire broke out in the overhead of the kitchen and spread through partitions to the upstairs bedrooms.

The blaze damaged the porch, kitchen and three bedrooms, Dickison said.

Tahitian Lives 155 Days At Sea

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP) — A 30-year-old Tahitian survived 155 days adrift across more than 1,400 miles of the Pacific Ocean in an open, flat-bottomed boat.

Demaniha Tepa told Samoan authorities that his companion in the lonely ordeal died two weeks before his small, disabled outboard motor boat was washed up on a remote Samoan beach July 6.

Tepa and Faioho started Sunday, Feb. 2, from their home on the small Tahitian isle of Maupiti on a short run to Bora Bora.

The outboard motor broke down. All efforts to fix it with their only tools, a screw driver and a scissors, failed.

Arco, Idaho, was the first city in the United States to be lighted solely by atomic electricity. The year was 1955.

Depot Official Advisor On Moving Of N-Reactor

TOBYHANNA — Anthony Heban of Tobyhanna, a packing specialist with the Supple and Maintenance Command Movement and Storage Center, Tobyhanna Army Depot, has returned from Camp Century, where he served as a technical advisor in the moving of a nuclear reactor.

Camp Century, built entirely under the ice, is 140 miles northeast of Thule Air Force Base, Greenland. The North Pole is only 800 miles away.

Until recently, Camp Century was the only community relying entirely on nuclear energy for power. The nuclear reactor has been dismantled after five years of constant operation and its parts are being returned to the States for laboratory evaluation.

Under Ice

Heban spent about a month under the ice. Even though the temperature above the ground varied from -10 degrees to -30 degrees, heandling of the reactor was a 'hot' job.

A three or four minute exposure of nuclear contaminated material was maximum working time at certain phases of the operation.

New Comedy To Open At Playhouse

MOUNTAINHOME — Beginning August 3, at the Pocono Playhouse, Mountainhome, Mrs. Rowena Stevens will launch a new comedy, "Absence of A 'Cello," starring funny man, Fred Clark. With Broadway as its destination, "Cello" is slated to open in New York City Sept. 21.

Directing the all-over operation is Michael Ellis, who has had more than a number of successful flings at the Broadway scene. James Hammerstein, who's skill as a director, is almost as well known as his late father's skill with words, will stage the Ira Wallach comedy.

Jabs At Life

In his latest, Playwright Wallach, takes humorous jabs at both the "organizational man" and the "rugged individualist." He uses as his take-off point, an egg-head scientist who, because of budget trouble is on the point of leaving his research lab for one of those big-money jobs in industry. With the aid of a young Warton School, arch conformist, he makes a hilarious effort to come up with the image of a bland conformist, believing this is the only way he can snag the job.

The very proper representative, on wh's say-so, the coveted job, may or may not be his, will be played by Murray Hamilton. The fact that the genius scout for the tycoon trade, is himself a bit of an odd ball introduces an unexpected romance and further fun into the doings.

Pertinent Observations

Despite all the ribbing both types come in for, Wallach has managed to lace his play with some pertinent observations on the social scene.

The supporting cast will include the much in demand Mala Powers and prize winner, Ruth White. Last seen on Broadway opposite Charles Boyer in "Lord Pengo," Miss White won an Obie for her distinguished performance off Broadway in "Happy Days" and in Philadelphia, the Drama Critic's award for the best supporting actreses in "Big Fish, Little Fish." Her film work includes, "To Kill A Mocking Bird" and "A Nun's Story."

Ruth McDevitt will be featured in the role of the high stepping grandmother who uses the racing form for light reading. Her grandson will be played by Charles Grodin.

Jack Bates will create the New York Apartment which is the locale for Wallach's hassle.

The Playhouse is open six nights a week Monday through Saturday with two matinees a week, Wednesday and Saturdays.

Below 600 feet in the Black Sea the water contains so much hydrogen sulfide that only a few bacteria can survive.

Miss LeDonne Queen Of Celebration

ROSETO — Miss Amelia LeDonne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew LeDonne of Roseto, is the new queen of the recent 71st annual "Our Lady of Mount Carmel" civic-religious celebration.

She was crowned by James Caiola, Norristown attorney, at the Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church plaza. Caiola, who was presented by the Rev. Gennaro J. Leone, C.M., served as master of ceremonies and spoke on the history of the celebration and the harmony and good health of the Roseto people.

Miss Jane Pullo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Pullo of Roseto, was crowned princess. Both girls received loving cups from the church and gifts from their parents, relatives and friends.

The program included a parade, fireworks display and a dance reveue by pupils of the Karen School of Dancing.

Caiola introduced the queen's court. The girls are all parish members of the 1964 graduating class of Pius X High School, Roseto and Bangor Area High Schools.

They were Elaine Bartolacci, Joanne Capobianco, Joanne Comunale, Antoinette DiPierro, Carmela Farole, Theresa Jean Greco, Phyllis Kotch, Lorraine Leraris, Concetta Scagliotti, Solita Zito, Shirley Powlette, Annette DeCesare and Annette Bozzuto. They wore pastel color gowns and carried colonial bouquets.

The queen wore a white gown and gold colored cape. The princess had a green gown and both girls had colonial bouquets.

Rose Mary Filingo was flower girl for the queen and Caroline Trigiani for the princess.

Page boys were Angelo Zambone Jr. for the queen and Dennis Labate for the princess. Michael Filingo was the crown bearer.

The queen, princess, page boys and crown bearer rode on a decorated float in the parade which was led by the Pius X High School and Junior band.

Sunday's program centered on religious aspects of the celebration. Five masses were said. The last mass was a solemn high mass with Rev. Michael Harrington, C.M., as celebrant. Father Leone was deacon and the Rev. Thomas DiFede, O.P., was sub deacon. Father DiFide gave the panegyric on Our Lady of Mount Carmel, patroness of the Roseto church.

Procession Follows

A procession followed the masses. The festival queen crowned the statue of Our Lady of Mount Carmel which was mounted on the float in the procession. Also in the procession were church organizations, clergy, Sisters of the parish, school children and Knights of Columbus from Easton and Father DeNisco Slate Belt councils, choirs, parishoners, and Pius X High School and Junior bands.

Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament in Pius X High School auditorium followed the procession. The Rev. Daniel Renaldo, C.M., officiated at the benediction. Father Leone gave the sermon.

The parade and procession was led by the Roseto police. A concert by Pius X High School and Junior band led by Louis Angelini brought the celebration to a close Sunday night.

Headed Committees

Members of the general committee were John Liberto, Joseph Powlette, chairmen; John Ferrazano, assistant chairman; Miss Angeline Martocci, secretary; Miss Dorothy Ruggiero, treasurer; Mrs. Hilda Romano, Mrs. Marie DePaolo, Miss Julia Bozzuto, Miss Theresa Jean Greco, August Armelin, Thomas Ciccarelli, Robert Renaldo and Thomas Sterlachini.

The program committee was made up of Miss Josephine Basso, Miss Rose DeFranco, Miss Magdalene Angelini and Mrs. Anna DeFranco. Members of the queen committee were Miss Angeline Martocci and Miss Dorothy Ruggiero.

Blast Victim In Eye Hospital

MARSHALS CREEK — Mrs. Marion Sherman of Marshalls Creek, who was injured in the Marshalls Creek disaster, was admitted to Wills Eye Hospital Room 640, Spring Garden St., Philadelphia, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Sherman will undergo surgery on her left eye Thursday morning. Her eye was injured by flying glass when her home was destroyed by the explosion.

Cy Barrett Says

Women Hard Workers

DEAR CY:

You said, "Women can make a grand display of nerve in just about everything but pricing their abilities and services. If they would forget what they think is value and set a nerve price, the world would be different." As a loyal fan, I want more details.

FRANK BELA

DEAR FRANK:

Men tend to underestimate the power of women, but women often downgrade the value of their efforts. Here's why: The American housewife is one of the lowest paid, hard-working humans on the surface of this planet.

She and 34,999,000 like her may work well over 8 hours a day in the home and receive no measurable monetary compensation. In female employment outside the home, 23 million gals draw paychecks but historically receive lower wages and have fewer opportunities for advancement than men.

Consequently, when women seek to price an article they have made, or their working time, they peg value on the low side. The role of women (and men) is rapidly shifting.

President Johnson has said, "I am insisting that women play a larger role in the government's plans and programs. It will be a continuing aim." Besides desiring to attract women to civil service, the government seeks top echelon business women on a part time basis.

Anytime women use their nerve, things are different. And . . . today and tomorrow . . . nerve power is within their gentle clutches.

CY

DEAR CY:

Much as I would like to announce we will hire the handicapped workers, there is the problem of layoffs. We simply do not want the attendant bad publicity.

MR. MAIN

DEAR MR. MAIN:

Perhaps you want to hire the handicapped for promotional value. If so, you already have a handicapped thinker on your payroll. An automobile manufacturing company hires handicapped workers, including a totally blind machinist.

Seniority is the rule, and the position of all workers is made clear. Handicapped working with this company take layoffs in stride, the same as with any other employee.

CY

DEAR CY:

I am in the retail business and some customers owe me $79, $150, $201 and $49. Being a curious sort, I am wondering how these delinquencies stack up with the average unpaid customer bill tackled by collection agencies.

SANABRIA

DEAR SANABRIA:

The average size of debts turned over to collection agencies is $56.28. Yours is $119.75 or 100 per cent above the national average. With grades like that, you'll learn quickly.

CY

Senator Seeks Defense Cutback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said Tuesday he will ask the Senate to make a modest cut of $1.8 billion in the $46.7 billion defense money bill slated for early floor action.

Even if Congress voted no new funds this year for missiles, aircraft and other weapons, McGovern said, the "United States now has enough armed strength to obliterate the Soviet Union and much of mankind."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Thursday, July 30

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Keep abreast of your occupational requirements. The opposition you will face, and all likely exigencies. With all matters under control you can move forward confidently—and with ease.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Fine planetary influences stimulate ambition, intellectual pursuits. With your innate ingenuity and sparkling imagination, you can achieve top rewards now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Influences, somewhat on the mixed side, indicate some unexpected delays and disappointments. Show your ability to get free of hindrances and prove the worth of your wares.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Even though the start of your day may be somewhat dull, you need not change your plans. Go ahead and take new steps, launch an unusual venture — IF you have all the facts and are prepared.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A fairly auspicious planetary setup indicates more freedom of movement but cautions against going out on the proverbial limb. Be tactful in all approaches.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You can fashion this day much to your liking IF you take into consideration the necessities of the pre-planned and the involvement of others. Avoid extremes.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Tricky in spots, day will demand close attention to plans, good follow-through, efficient methods and close attention to details. Avoid making wild promises.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Real problems likely to be confused with imaginary ones. Look thoroughly into your affairs, weed out non essentials. Personality conflicts should not deter good efforts.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — You could dream up the completely wrong picture now if not careful. Try to understand thoroughly the jobs and involvements of the next few days. Do not be misled by your emotions.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Give careful thought to decisions you must make soon. Call on influential friends to ease your way if you think they can be of help. There's more than one way to get ahead.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Sidestep deceptive persons and uncertain ventures. You could run into both now. Make your bid for gains and attainment through cogent use of your talents, convincing presentation.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Making snap decisions without thorough checking, and looking for "the worst" are day's dangers. Concentrate on present matters and don't try to solve problems BEFORE they arise.

YOU BORN TODAY have an innately sunny disposition; are energetic, intuitive, and sometimes obstinate. You are a home and family lover; generous; also impulsive, outspoken at times. Leo the Lion's influence gives us many explorers and adventurers, leaders in industry, statesmen and military officers. You dislike tedium, dreamers, uninteresting people; must learn patience. Don't use your wit carelessly; use it to build good will. Birthdate of: Henry Ford, American industrialist; Casey Stengel, baseball manager.

Supersonic Airliner Booms May Make It Impractical

By Richard Spong

WASHINGTON — The Federal Aviation Agency will cease sonic boom testing over Oklahoma City on Monday, Aug. 3.

Six months of controversy in Oklahoma City come to an end on Monday, and the government's supersonic transport airliner project appears to be in deep trouble.

The Federal Aviation Agency since last Feb. 3 has been conducting tests that have split the citizenry in two, pro-boom and anti-boom. The anti - boomers have been registering their objections with a stream of damage claims, law suits, and loud complaints.

Eight times a day the Air Force, at FAA's direction, has been breaking the sound barrier over Oklahoma City.

At first the good people of the city accepted the experiment with the enthusiasm of volunteers. But soon came complaints of broken windows, cracks in walls, and upset pets.

These multiplied into the thousands. Some irate homeowners we compensated for broken glass and other damage.

Suits for court injunctions failed to bring an end to the tests. After five months the City Council finally was moved to seek in writing a declaration from the federal government that the people of Oklahoma City were contributing something to the national interest by enduring the systematic overflights of jet planes.

In conducting the tests, FAA was trying to determine how much sonic boom the public can be expected to tolerate.

The boom is produced by a strong pressure wave created by a plane moving at or beyond the speed of sound, or more than 760 miles an hour at sea level.

Supersonic transport planes, (SST's) of the future will fly at speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour.

The supersonic plane has a great potential for Oklahoma City. The Chamber of Commerce and other pro-boomers see their community as the site of a supersonic international port.

FAA even now has 4,188 employees in Oklahoma City, 1,200 more than the agency has in Washington.

The tests now nearing completion have shown that some plane maneuvers intensify the sonic boom. Winds, changes in temperature, cloud layers, and other weather conditions also cause variations in the boom.

Some planes can fly faster than sound at some altitudes without producing a sonic boom. On the other hand, the tests showed that pressure waves can be 50 per cent higher than had been predicted on the basis of earlier studies.

Najeeb E. Halaby, administrator of FAA, on July 8 announced that the Oklahoma City tests showed the boom problem to be "more serious" than had been supposed.

Gettysburg Trip For Barrett 'Y'

MOUNTAINHOME — Barrett branch of YMCA day campers will leave from the YMCA Friday at 10 a.m. in the Monroe County YMCA bus for a day long trip to Gettysburg.

Wayne Boyd, Y director, will accompany the bus load of children aided by Mrs. Frank Grab, Lair Smyzer, and Mrs. Boyd.

Boyd said the two dollar fee for the trip includes transportation, admission to various sites and insurance. All campers participating are to take a lunch and money to purchase supper and any souveniers they desire. Boyd said the local Y would provide a beverage for the lunch break.

Reservations must be made today by contacting the Barret Y. All campers who have attended the two-week sessions are eligible to register for the trip.

The last week of the last day camp session begins Monday, according to Boyd, Any child between the ages of 6 and 13 desiring to register may also go to Gettysburg by calling him at the Y.

The opening of the Suez Canal gave South Arabia a superlative stragetic importance as a guardian of a major crossroads.

Happy Birthday 'Old Perfesser'

NEW YORK (AP)— They're going to cart a giant birthday cake into Shea Stadium Thursday night. Players of the New York Mets have chipped in for a birthday present.

There'll be an announcement made over the loudspeaker. Speeches of adulation will be made. And then a gnarled, eagle-beaked man with a gimpy leg will walk up to the microphone and bellow:

"Let's go, Mets!"

Actually, it won't matter much what Charles Dillon Stengel will say. The close - to - capacity crowd, on hand for the finale of the New York Mets - Los Angeles Dodger series, will cheer him to the echo.

For it will be Casey Stengel's 74th birthday. And 54 of these years have been spent in baseball. Except for 82-year-old Branch Rickey, serving in an advisory capacity with the St. Louis Cardinals, there isn't a baseball man today who can match that longevity mark.

This will be his third straight last-place finish with the Mets after having led the Yankees to 10 pennants and seven world championships in 12 years.

Viking Back Is 'Critical'

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP)—Tom Franckhauser, 26, third year defensive back from Purdue, suffered a critical head injury in a scrimmage at the Minnesota Vikings' football training camp Wednesday.

Franckhauser was listed in critical condition in a Bemidji hospital with brain hemorrhaging.

A neuro-surgeon was being flown from Minneapolis to attend Franckhauser, and his wife Beverly was summoned from Dallas, Tex., where she had been visiting her parents.

Eastburg Silenced By Bethlehem Ace

Daily Record Sports Editor

FREEMANSBURG — The noisy bats of East Stroudsburg's Little League All-Stars were silenced yesterday by Bethlehem Northeast's Bob Majczan, who tossed a two-hitter at the northern division champs of district 20, as the steel city club earned a 7-1 triumph.

Bethlehem, the defending champs of the district, scored all their runs in the first two innings to sew up the game early.

The erstwhile Eastburg sluggers, meanwhile, who has scored 37 runs in three previous playoff games, were held to only two singles.

Tom Kishpaugh poked a first inning safety to center, and Mike Van Why lashed a liner for their only base knocks.

Majczan, a flamethrowing rightie, used pinpoint control to keep the Eastburg batters in check. He walked only three and struck out seven.

Bethlehem started the game off with a bunting attack which paid dividends. Richie Schultz, Ed Ruyak, and Majczan, laid down three straights bunts, which, combined with two errors, accounted for two runs.

Jodie Reese lined a single to center for the third run, and Reese scored on another error.

In the second, Jim Sotzing, was safe on a dropped fly ball. Schultz walked, and Ruyak singled to load the bases.

Majczan singled, scoring Sotzing, but Schultz was out on a relay throw trying to score from second. Reese singled to center, scoring Ruyak, and Majczan was out at home on the play.

Reese later scored on a wild pitch.

Eastburg's onty run came in the third when Van Why led off with a single to right center and advanced to second on Joe Viechnicki's sacrifice bunt.

Gary Huffman followed with a walk, and after Richard Spinner struck out, Tom Kishpaugh was safe on an infield error, allowing Van Why to scamper home.

Bethlehem will go on to play the winner of tomorrow's game between the southern and western division of District 20. That game will be played Saturday and will determine the district championship.

'Frisco Bops Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Willie McCovey, whose run-scoring double tied the game in the eighth inning, slashed a bases-loaded single for two runs in the 10th Wednesday night, sparking San Francisco to a 6-3 triumph over National League - leading Philadelphia.

The victory moved the second-place Giants to within one-half game of the Phillies.

The Giants loaded the bases against reliever Jack Baldschun on singles by Harvey Kuenn and Jim Hart sandwiched around an intentional walk to Willie Mays. McCovey, on a 3-2 pitch, belted a single into center field, scoring Kuenn and Mays with the tie-breaking runs.

Hurricane Carter Gets Giardello Title Shot

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"It's the chance of a lifetime," said middleweight contender Ruben (Hurricane) Carter, after signing Wednesday for a crack at Joey Giardello's championship.

Their contract sets the bout for Oct. 23 in Las Vegas, with Giardello guaranteed $100,000. Carter's take is to be at least $12,500 plus expenses from the 15-rounder promoted by the Silver State Boxing Club of Las Vegas. Footing the bill will be the live gate receipts and theater television.

Explaining his "chance of a lifetime" remark in a news conference after the signing, Carter said:

"Some fighters have to wait 10 or 12 years for a title fight. I've only been fighting professionally for three years."

He could have been talking about Giardello, who won the championship in a 15-round decision over Dick Tiger of Nigeria last Dec. 7 in Atlantic City, N.J. Giardello at 34 is a veteran of 15 years as the pro. He goes into this, his first title defense, with a record of 103 victories against 19 defeats.

Carter has a record of 20 and 4.

Carter considers youth, at 27, his biggest advantage.

Giardello had been under fire from both the World Boxing Association and the New York State Athletic Commission to sign for a defense. During his almost eight months as champion Giardello has fought and won two non-title bouts against Argentina's Rocky Rivero.

The contract doesn't say anything about a return bout, but Carter, for one, wouldn't rule it out.

Auto Driver Dies In Wreck

TYRONE, Pa. (AP)—Charles Kurtz III, the 1961 National Formula H. Sportscar champion, and another man were fatally injured Tuesday night in a two-car accident.

State police identified the other dead man as Allen Thomas, about 45, of Clearfield, Pa. They said the accident occurred on Route 220, about five miles north of this Blair County town.

Police said Kurtz, 29, also of Clearfield, died in Philipsburg Hospital. Thomas died in Tyrone Hospital.

Kurtz finished fourth in the American Challenge Cup Race last Feb. 15 at Daytona Beach, Fla. He also raced at Sebring and Watkins Glen.

Bears' Offensive Attack Must Change Since Tragedy

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP) — The champion Chicago Bears' blueprint for a stepped-up offense this season needed sharp revision Wednesday following the auto crash deaths of halfback Willie Galimore and end John Farrington.

Owner - coach George Halas had taken into summer camp a squad beefed up by off-season trades aimed at sprucing up an attack that was far from fearsome in the National Football League last season.

Halas bartered for offensive ends Rich Kreitling of the Cleveland Browns and Gary Barnes of the Dallas Cowboys, mainly to give quarterback Bill Wade more targets and take defensive pressure off a running attack built around Galimore, Ron Bull and Joe Marconi.

Now Galimore — the club's only real game-breaking runner —and Farrington, a key receiver, must be replaced. They were killed in the tragic accident Sunday.

Bull will have to carry most of the load as running halfback, although Billy Martin and rookie Kelton Winston from Wiley College of Texas also are being tested at Galimore's post.

Martin is a 197-pound speedster, injured most of last season, whose forte has been punt returning. Once a hot Minnesota prospect, Martin left school for a Marine hitch and became a pro three seasons ago.

Winston is a 205-pounder who also has had Marine service.

Also being tested is rookie halfback Bob Batts, credited with a 9.6 in the 100 dash at Texas Southern.

Farrington was fourth among Bear receivers last season, but second best pass-catching behind Mike Ditka. At Farrington's spread end position, Kreitling, Barnes and rookies, Bill Martin of Georgia Tech and Chuck Logan of Northwestern will battle it out.

Ronson Tops Elks, 7-2, In L. L. Tilt

STROUDSBURG — Ronson socked the Elks, 7-2, in a Stroudsburg Little League game.

Koczot had two doubles for Ronson, while teammates Keiper and Smith also smacked two-baggers.

Ronson notched the win on the strength of three run innings in the first and fifth frames.

Family Lawyer

An American Bar Association publication service feature by Will Bernard

Child At Stake

In a hospital room, a child lies seriously ill. Doctors agree on the medical treatment that the child should have. But the child's parents, prompted by sincere religious convictions, will not allow it.

May a court step in? Does society have the power to order medical treatment for a child in defiance of his own parents?

Clearly, momentous issues, both moral and legal, are involved. A state has both the right and the duty to protect a child in danger. Yet parents, by and large, are entitled to raise their children as they see fit. And, in most cases of this kind, they buttress their position by pointing to the constitutional guarantee of freedom of religion.

Case by case, in the law's cautious fashion basic doctrines have been worked out to resolve the dilemma. Broadly speaking, a court may indeed step in and order medical treatment — but it may do so only in extreme circumstances. Before taking that step, the court will weigh these key questions:

How serious is the child's illness?

How risky is the medical treatment that is contemplated?

What are the chances that the treatment will succeed?

In one case, doctors urged surgery to correct a bone disease likely to cause permanent deformity in the victim. Still, the child's life was in no danger. And the operation, although a common one, did involve an appreciable risk. Refusing to authorize surgery, the court said:

No Spartan Rule

"We have not yet adopted as a public policy the Spartan rule that children belong, not to the parents, but to the state."

In another case, however, a court did authorize removal of a child'd eye, because the operation had a good chance of success — and because the alternative was almost certain death. And in a third case a blood transfusion, needed by a badly burned child, was given by court order. To the parents' insistence on religious freedom, the court replied:

"The parents in this case have a perfect right to worship as they please and believe what they please. They enjoy complete freedom of religion. But this right of theirs ends where somebody's else's right begins. Their child is a human being in his own right, with a soul and body of his own. He has rights of his own."

Art Exhibit Slated For Pocono Pines

POCONO PINES — The Pocono Pines Art Group, combined with the Pocono Mountain Art Group, will hold an art exhibition Saturday, Aug. 8, from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

It will be held on the grounds and porches of the Mountaintop Lodge, Rte. 940, Pocono Pines.

The public is invited, there's no admission charge. For those exhibiting the charge is 50 cents per exhibitor.

Mrs. Patty Spencer of the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, will be present to do pastel sketches of children and adults.

Mrs. Helen Stevenson is president of the Pocono Pines Group, with Mrs. Ethel Simonettie, treasurer, and Mrs. Emma Waygood, secretary.

Among those present at the organization meeting of the group were Mrs. Irene Gross, June McClintock, Mary Louise Baxter, Patty Spencer, Ethel Simonetti, Emma Waygood, and Helen Stevenson.

At the Mountain Top Lodge, on the day of the Exhibit, there will be box lunches or hot lunches available.

In case of rain, the exhibit will be held on the porches of the lodge.

Open House Set For Camp Daddy Allen

WHITE HAVEN — Camp Daddy Allen, Hickory Run State Park, R. D. 1, White Haven, Pennsylvania, Carbon County, will hold its "Open House" for friends and guests, Sunday, August 2.

Camp officials urged, "Come as early as you can and stay as long as possible for you will want to see all of the camp with its many facilities for the handicapped."

Youngsters with handicaps take part in the program made possible by Easter Seal contributions.

Camp Daddy Allen is one of four camps operated annually by the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults in cooperation with the local societies.

A special program by the campers is planned for a short time during the "Open House" period.

Leader Program At Weygadt

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Boy Scout Camp Weygadt at the Delaware Water Gap will be the scene of the fifth annual junior leader training camp of the Delaware Valley Area Council of the Scouts, according to Charles M. Evans, director of the event.

Evans said the camp, to feature intensive training in the patrol method and basic scoutcraft skills, will begin Sunday and run for one week.

During the event, open to any Boy Scout of second class rank or higher, Scouts will learn pioneer housekeeping, camp cookery, fuel and fire, hike leadership, and wilderness survival, the camp director said.

Training will be conducted by specially qualified and trained adult volunteers, Evans added.

Scoutmasters and adult leaders of the participating troops will come to the camp Aug. 7 for "special training designed to help them put to best use the skills that their Scouts have acquired," Evans reported.

Barrett Township Drive For Cancer Funds Extended

CRESCO — The Barrett Cancer drive realized more than $700 according to Mrs. Roy Shoesmith, chairman. She announced yesterday that since the goal of $1,000 had not been reached the deadline for the drive was extended to the end of August.

She thanked all the workers and crusaders who canvassed the township door to door and said donations will be accepted at her address — Box 25, Cresco RD 1, until Aug. 31.

"Checks are to be made payable to the American Cancer Society," she said. "And if I receive them before the August deadline they will be counted in the Barrett goal."

Mrs. Shoesmith added, "anyone desiring to make donations to the society in lieu of flowers or in memory of a loved one may do so through the Barrett drive."

Purslane and chickweek, both weeds, can continue to produce seeds for days after begin uprooted.

NOTICE

Original sale postponed from Sat., July 11, 1964 until Sat., August 1, 1964.

Administratrix' Sale of Real Property Estate of Harry Quick, Deceased.

The undersigned will sell to the highest bidder or bidders for cash the following described real property of the deceased Harry Quick in the Village of Fairview Lake, Palmyra Township, Pike County, Pennsylvania, on Saturday, August 1, 1964.

PARCEL #1: A 20.8 acre parcel of land bordering on State Highway Route #390 approximately one half mile South of the Tafton, Pennsylvania Post Office and directly across from property now owned by Evelyn Segrist (formerly Totem Pole, Inn) and having a frontage on State Highway Route #390 of approximately 697 feet. Situate on this Parcel is a two-story frame farmhouse, a barn and several outbuildings. Parcel 1 will be sold at the residence of the deceased at 10:00 A. M., E. D. S. T.

PARCEL #2: A piece of land consisting of 30.6 acres, more or less, and bounding on the "Mill Pond," but containing no access to the waters of the said "Mill Pond." This property was formerly the Mains farm. This property is located approximately 3358.1 feet East-Southeast from the Southeasterly corner of Parcel #1 described above. Parcel #2 and Parcel #3 will be considered one parcel and will be sold at 10:30 A. M., E. D. S. T., at the residence of Harry Quick.

Parcel #3: A strip of land 21.75 feet in width, extending from Parcel #1 to Parcel #2 noted above and being the only right of way to gain access and being a right of way to gain access to Parcel #2 above. The length of this strip of land is approximately 3358.1 feet.

At 11:00 A. M. E. D. S. T., all three parcels will be offered for sale in one package and if the total price bid for the three parcels exceeds the aggregate total of the individual bids for the separate parcels the latter will receive the property.

Ten per cent of bids to be paid at time of sale and balance by certified check upon delivery of deed for such title as was vested in decedent, said deed to be delivered within thirty (30) days of sale.

The right to accept or reject any or all bids is reserved.

AUCTION SALE

of an attractive ranch-type bungalow on 1 acre of land with private picnic grove in the rear. Sale on the premises on macadam highway leading from Tannersville to Reeders.

SATURDAY, AUG 15, 1964
2 P.M.

This bungalow is of frame construction containing modern kitchen, living and dining rooms, 2 bedrooms, bath and another room now operated as an established barber shop or can be used as a third bedroom.

Heated by a new oil fired hot air furnace with radiators in every room. Pure mountain water from a never failing 80 ft. artesian well; closets in every room and three in the master bedroom. House is insulated; has full concrete cellar, attached garage, 2 chicken coops and small outbuilding.

Included with the real estate is the gas range, venetian blinds, 2 corner cupboards, snack bar and stools, gas hot water heater, picnic tables and furniture in the lighted grove in the rear. 205 ft. highway frontage and a depth of 208 ft. Lovely shade, lawn and shrubbery.

Terms: $1000 down on day of sale, balance 30 days. Mr. and Mrs. John Baselli, owners. Posten Auction Associates, Wayne R. & Maude Posten, Aucts.

AUCT'S. NOTE: This property is only 10 min. drive from Stbg. via thru-way. Mr. Baselli has established an excellent barber clientele. Located close to church, school and store. They are leaving to make their home in N. Carolina and this property will be sold. We are proud to present this lovely modern country home as an auction offering.

Inspection: Sunday Aug. 2 from 2 to 4 p.m. or at other times by appointment. Phone 421-7320, Posten Auction Assoc.
